For facelift, target old cases for disposal: CJI

Puts district courts on a pedestal, says people must get rid of the colonial mindset

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

CHIEF Justice of India D Y Chandrachud on Friday urged all courts to identify and target disposing of their oldest of cases in the next few months so as to change the image of the judiciary.

Speaking at the inauguration of the Andhra Pradesh Judicial Academy, CJI said, "We need to change the image of the judiciary, which is based on the classical movie phrase, tareekh pe tareekh." He suggested all courts to take up their oldest cases for expeditious disposal.

The CJI put district courts on a pedestal, saying people must get rid of the colonial mindset of referring to them as subordinate judiciary in hierarchy and in practice.

CJI Chandrachud

Citing data available at the National Judicial Data Grid, the CJI sought to underscore that the reasons for delay in case disposal are not attributable to judges. For example, 63 lakh cases have been considered delayed due to non-availability of counsel. Besides, almost 14 lakh cases have been delayed since some record or document is awaited, which is beyond the control of the court, he pointed out.

To enable court establishments to monitor the progress of case disposal, justice clocks will be established in every court, he added.

Looking inward, he said bail, not jail, is one of the most fundamental rules of the criminal justice system. "Yet in practice the number of undertrials languishing in prisons in India reflects a paradoxical situation, deprivation of liberty, even for a single day is a day too many," the CJI said, adding the provisions of bail must not be meaningless and mechanical.

The CJI also sought to dispel fear in judicial officers in trial courts on how grant of bail will be perceived, saying it is irrational.

MORE CRIMINAL CASES NOT A HEALTHY TREND: SC JUDGE

Supreme Court judge Justice S Abdul Nazeer said that registration of more criminal cases than civil cases is not a healthy trend for the society. That would mean more people are taking law into their own hands. Accident cases may have been included in the list of criminal cases, yet the surging number of criminal cases is a cause for concern, he said. He was speaking after laying the foundation stone for the construction of a new annex court complex in Udupi on Friday. Justice Nazeer said that 95 per cent of the cases registered by the police end up in acquittal and this means wrong charge-sheets are being filed before the courts.

Modi's centenarian mother passes away

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi's mother Hiraben Modi passed away at U N Mehta Heart Hospital in Ahmedabad early on Friday. The end came at 3.30 am, the hospital said in its medical bulletin. She was 100.

Hiraben is survived by her five sons — PM Modi and his brothers Somabhai, Amrutbhai, Prahladbhai, and Pankajbhai — and daughter Vasantiben.

Her last rites were performed at a crematorium in Gandhinagar at 9.30 am in the presence of the prime minister, his brothers and other family members. Earlier in the day, the PM reached the residence of his brother Pankaj Modi at Raysan village on the outskirts of Gandhinagar, where Hiraben's mortal remains were kept. He offered floral tributes to his mother there and bowed down at her feet. Later, Modi and his brothers shouldered her mortal remains for some distance before placing them in a van.

Three-day mourning

Prime Minister Modi's birth place Vadnagar will observe a three-day mourning with all major markets in the city to remain closed to condole Hiraben's death

The prime minister also posted a moving tribute to his mother, also known as Hiraba. Modi wrote, "A great journey of 100 years has come to an end. I have witnessed three qualities in mother, a journey like that of a tapasvi (saint), a selfless worker and life dedicated to values... When I met her on her 100th birthday she said one thing which I always remember — kam karo buddhi thi, jivan jivo suddhi thi (work with intelligence, and live life with purity)."

Modi had last visited the Mehta hospital to inquire about his mother on Wednesday after learning about her deteriorating health condition.

Pant injured after Merc rams divider

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

DASHING wicketkeeper-batsman Rishabh Pant was injured in a car accident in the early hours of Friday near Roorkee after he dozed off at the wheel and crashed into a highway divider. Pant was on his way to Roorkee from Delhi in his Mercedes Benz to surprise his mother on the New Year's eve when the accident occurred.

Eyewitnesses said Pant broke the car window and jumped out as it was catching fire. In the process, his skin peeled off at a few places. Passersby called the police and the ambulance service. After first aid in Roorkee, he was admitted to the Max Hospital in Dehradun.

Pant suffered injuries on his legs, head and back, but is stable. He does not seem to have bone injuries but has a ligament tear on his right knee, which is being further assessed. Max Hospital said Pant is responding to treatment.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi spoke to Pant's mother Saroj Pant, inquired about his health and wished him speedy recovery.

The Board of Control for Cricket in India said Pant will receive the best possible medical care and get all support. "The BCCI is in constant touch with Rishabh's family while the medical team is in close contact with the doctors currently treating Rishabh," BCCI secretary Jay Shah said.

Speaking to this newspaper, Haridwar Senior Superintendent of Police Ajay Singh said, "At 5.22 am, the operator of a Haryana Roadways bus called the police and ambulance about the accident." According to police sources, two employees of a sugar mill, who were returning home from night duty, were among the first responders. "As soon as we got the information, we rushed to the spot and identified cricketer Pant," said Sonu Kumar, who was part of the ambulance team.

All Pant could remember after jumping out was his mother's mobile number, which he asked the first responders to call. According to Sonu, "Pant said since he could rarely indulge in his passion for driving because of his busy cricketing schedule, he chose to drive home from Delhi."

Shah sounds poll bugle from Mandya, tears into Oppn

B K LAKSHMIKANTHA @ Mandya

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah on Friday sounded the bugle for the 2023 Assembly polls in Karnataka by urging the people of the state to vote for the BJP for the development of the state.

Addressing a gathering during the BJP's Jana Sankalpa Yatra at Mandya, a Vokkaliga bastion, Shah tore into the Congress and JDS and termed them dynastic parties. He accused them of looting the state resources for many years and serving as automated teller machines (ATMs) for their party leadership.

"While the Congress government was an ATM for its party high command, JDS was an ATM for a family. As both parties were corrupt, there has been no development in the state. The double-engine BJP government (at state and Centre), which believes in nationalism and unity, has been developing the state in a big way," he said.

Accusing the two parties of being communal and sheltering criminals, Shah alleged that the Congress neglected and cheated the Dalit and Adivasi communities for centuries.

"BJP made Ram Nath Kovind, a Dalit, and Droupadi Murmu, an Adivasi, Presidents of India. It is the BJP which is working for the welfare of these two communities in the country," he said.

Referring to the recent ban on Popular Front of India (PFI), Shah said that the Siddaramaiah-led Congress government had withdrawn 56 cases against 1,700 PFI cadres, but it was PM Modi who banned the PFI and sent its leaders to jail. The government also scrapped Article 370, which gave special status to Jammu and Kashmir, to end terrorism in the state, he added.

2L PRIMARY DAIRY UNITS TO COME UP AT VILLAGE LEVEL ACROSS COUNTRY IN 3 YEARS

Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Friday said the government plans to set up 2 lakh primary dairy units at the village level across the country in the next three years. Inaugurating the mega milk dairy of Mandya Milk Union (ManMul) at Gejjalagere in Mandya, Shah said the dairies could be established with the collaboration between AMUL and Karnataka Milk Federation (KMF), in every village of the state. "Just as a White Revolution transformed the lives of dairy farmers in Gujarat, a collaboration between KMF and AMUL will make India a big dairy exporter," he said. P4

Combat role for CRPF women with Valley ultras

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

IN a first, the CRPF will deploy women personnel trained in handling of automatic weapons, explosives and drones on operational duties in the militancy-hit Kashmir. The deployment will take place in March and it will be the first induction of the women force of any security agencies for direct combat with militants in the Valley.

CRPF inspector general (Srinagar sector) Charu Sinha told TNIE that the CRPF is planning to deploy female personnel during the cordon and search operation as it has been observed that women feel uncomfortable during search operations by male-dominated security forces. "For the comfort of women folk, we are going to deploy women personnel during the search operation."

At present, women CRPF personnel are deployed for frisking women at the Srinagar airport, civil secretariat and other government installations.

"In the next two to three months, we intend to deploy women personnel in counter militancy operations in the Valley as well," Sinha said.

The women personnel would be given one-and-a-half month training in the Valley in handling of sophisticated weapons, explosives and use of drones.

"After undergoing additional training, the women CRPF personnel will be deployed in counter-militancy operations to fight militants like their male counterparts. The women personnel will be doing everything that a male constable does," Sinha said.

NEW STUDY

In Western Ghats, butterflies evolve faster than you thought

DONNA EVA @ Bengaluru

A new study has thrown light into many interesting aspects of butterflies' adaptation and evolution processes. Researchers from the National Centre of Biological Sciences (NCBS) have found that butterflies that have evolved to make use of mimicry evolve faster than the species that don't make use of mimicry.

The study was undertaken by three researchers from NCBS, Dipendra Nath Basu, Vaishali Bhaumik and advisor Prof Krushnamegh Kunte, who studied several species of butterflies and their imitative traits in the Western Ghats in Karnataka.

The findings were categorised into three – model species (those that are toxic to predators), Batesian mimicry species (those that evolved traits of unpalatable species to avoid predators) and non-mimetic species (those that are closely related to Batesian mimics but did not evolve mimicry trait).

Batesian mimics adapt to avoiding predators by evolving similar wing colour patterns and flight behaviours. Interestingly, they found that the mimicking species of butterfly have evolved faster than the non-mimetic species, but the model species evolved at an even faster rate.

The Common Rose (Pachliopta aristolochiae) is a bright, warningly patterned toxic butterfly that most predators learn to avoid eating | KRUSHNAMEGH KUNTE

Analyses revealed that not only had colour patterns evolved at a much faster rate, but that members of mimetic communities had evolved at a faster rate than their close relatives. Butterflies exhibit a wide range of colours and colour patterns, suggesting that the genetic architecture underlying wing patterns and colour pigments are relatively malleable and susceptible to change, the researchers said.

The researchers are now planning to study species of butterflies in older biological communities in North East India and South East Asia to see if the rate of evolution is similar in these communities as compared to the young communities they studied in the Western Ghats.

"The hope is that this research will reveal how species diversified and bio-diversity flourished in the Indian tropic," they said.

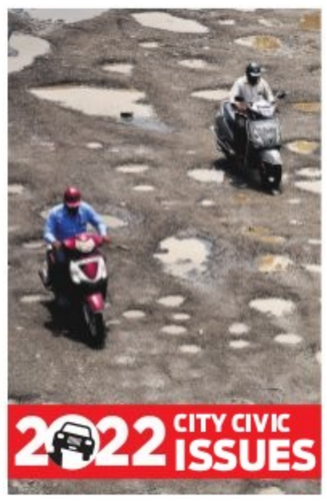
POTHOLES, FLOODS, WASTE: NO RESPITE FOR CITIZENS

BOSKY KHANNA



BENGALURU, the country's IT capital, the city which generates the largest amount of revenue for the state government and contributes the lion's share to the national economy, continues to face problems with basic facilities -- good roads, clean water bodies, well-protected lung spaces and clean air.

Though these issues sound and look simple, ensuring the city is well maintained seems to be a herculean task for the state government. Experts point out that the pandemic and lockdown period was not utilised to address these issues. Government officials often use high vehicular population and unprecedented rain as excuses for potholed roads. Despite the presence of hot and cold mix plants, and a team of engineers from various agencies, including Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike, Bangalore Development Authority, Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited, little has been done to address the issue.

Roads which were well tarred ahead of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit, the Global Investors' Meet, Bengaluru Tech Summit and G-20 meetings, opened up soon after the delegates left, exposing the corruption and lack of interest among contractors to ensure good roads.

PM Modi visited the city twice -- to lay the foundation stone and inaugurate multiple projects, including Vande Bharat Express, Terminal-2 at Kempegowda International Airport, the 108-ft tall statue of Nadaprabhu Kempegowda, Metro projects at Kommaghatta and Suburban Rail.

Bengaluru also made headlines for flooding. While techies took to social media to express their anguish, the government blamed unplanned development and encroachment, more so in the tech corridor of the city, which houses prime institutions. Experts and planners, however, pointed out that both are to blame. The government tried to set things right and restarted its encroachment clearance drive, which came to a halt because of a lack of surveys and maps. Residents and builders of gated communities and apartment complexes knocked on the doors of courts and Lokayukta to get stay orders.

Experts and citizen activists on multiple platforms blamed the government for not holding municipality elections. A few urban planners opined that had there been ward corporators, the issues of bad roads, flooding and garbage menace could have been handled faster. These issues are currently being handled by MLAs, MPs and the chief minister, who also holds the Bengaluru development portfolio.

The exercise of ward delimitation is not yet complete, despite intervention by courts and the Election Commission, and little is being done as the city is expanding swiftly.

The city's unplanned growth is visible in the newly added 110 villages, where basic infrastructure like roads, drains and drinking water connections are yet to be provided. These areas are crucial for the city's growth as they house tech corridors, apartment complexes and a floating population. However, experts clearly state that the government's focus is still on CBD areas.

The idea of five satellite townships remains on the drawing board, due to which the long-pending demand for restricting vehicles in CBD areas has not been addressed either. Another reason is the government is still unable to start the Suburban Rail project, and dialogues with the railway ministry have not shown the required results. Experts from various government agencies are also unable to ensure last-mile unhindered connectivity because of a lack of coordination to ensure a smooth transport system. Urban planners and the migrant population term Bengaluru the costliest city when it comes to transportation. Officials also admit that though elections are fast approaching, no major announcements or projects have been kickstarted to give the tech city a facelift. They admit that the prime reason is the lack of a single agency to take responsibility and execute work. Though Bengaluru has its own act – BBMP Act 2020, separate from the KMC Act -- even two years down the line, Bengaluru is what it was before the pandemic.

Most traders on several popular roads have lit up their respective streets to help regulate law and order. They have also deployed private security guards in addition to the police personnel already stationed.

31ST December : Today, as I'm sure you know is Saturn's Day – or Saturday. Right now, this distant planet is sailing through Libra, a sign which favours care and attention to detail. It follows that people who are meticulous and practical will tend to do best, while those who are lazy and careless could come seriously unstuck! It's up to us which side we take!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Some people say that you can't gain without some pain! However, when all is said and done there is little to stop you from enjoying yourself. In point of fact, four uncompromising planets are lined up with the regions of your solar chart signifying creative expression and self-indulgence. Go for it!

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
While it is true that the general planetary trends are on your side, I do feel that this is the time for measured responses. In spite of what astrologers often claim, you can blow up, but this is perhaps not the best time to do so. There's nothing to be gained from blaming the first person who crosses your path.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You should listen to other people instead of lecturing them. When partners are given a fair hearing, they may contribute some extremely useful advice. It is now the moment for you to realise that your ideas must be backed up with true facts. The time for bluff is over.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
The financial situation is looking more and more favourable, although you would be foolish to take a large risk. You must always keep sufficient in reserve to cope with any contingencies. You might do well from mixing business with pleasure.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You may either be putting in some overtime, or otherwise doing more than is necessary. But don't forget important leisure activities; stay active, keep moving and take steps to develop a new interest. If you go for a confrontation, you must take your share of the responsibility.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You can fulfil your social engage-ments if you wish, but your stars are looking so monastic that the ideal way to spend the next few days would be far away on a spiritual retreat. One way or another, you must make more time for yourself, but family members overseas do offer a fruitful point of contact.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Leaving to one side more profound issues, this is a day for retail-therapy, window-shopping, browsing through catalogues and generally involving yourself in the consumer society. A generous gesture will help happy social gatherings go with a swing.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
What transpires between now and eight weeks' time will to tally transform many of your opinions and attitudes - and some of your decisions. Hopefully, a few hard knocks will also help you smarten up your act and enable you to see just how well-off you are in many respects.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Part of your horoscope is shouting about fun, another is pulling you towards spiritual and philosophical dimensions. The solution would seem to be to enjoy yourself but never lose sight of the meaning of life. A loved one from far away is about to get in touch, so wait for the news to arrive.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
There is some way to go before you need experience any further shake-up. I know that some of you are still feeling bewildered and confused, but such feelings will pass, especially if you realise that you must get on with ordinary life. Plus, someone will surprise you by coming up with the best advice.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
While it's true to say that your solar chart is generally light-hearted, this is a very appropriate moment for serious discussions and important choices which will affect your practical affairs for a very long time indeed. A partner has the answer to an old question - if only they knew it!

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
It's a thoroughly useful period, and the most helpful thing you can do for yourself is sit down, have a good, hard think, and talk to people about all practical matters involving home and work. There are arrangements to make which can be deferred no longer.

A 32-year-old woman has approached police, accusing a couple of assaulting her and her son for refusing to convert to another religion. The incident occurred in Jigani in Bannerghatta police station limits.

On December 22, the victim lost her mother, following which the couple allegedly asked her to convert, claiming she would get many benefits and her family would be cared for. On Tuesday, the victim's nine-year-old son, who had gone to the couple's provision shop, returned home crying. When the woman question them, the couple allegedly dragged her inside the house compound and assaulted her for not heeding their advice on conversion.

The victim is a resident of Kannayakana Agrahara in Jigani. The complaint was registered by Bannerghatta police on Tuesday, against the couple who reside in the neighbourhood.

The couple is also alleged to have beaten the victim's son, when he had gone to their store. "My mother's rituals are not yet over. I am in deep pain. The couple asked me to convert. When I refused, they beat me and my son. They also banged my head against the wall. I have taken treatment for my injuries," the victim told TNIE.

Much before the victim approached the police, however, the couple reportedly approached the police and complained against her. However, no complaint was registered.

"The case is still under investigation. There is no proof of the allegations made against the suspects, asking the complainant to convert. Action will be taken against the guilty," said an officer.

A case of outraging the modesty of a woman (IPC 354), causing hurt (IPC 323), and criminal intimidation (IPC 506), along with other IPC sections, were registered against the suspects.

200 pieces of sniper tools seized at KIA

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

AROUND 200 pieces of an equipment attached to sniper rifles were seized by customs officials at the Air Cargo Centre at KIA on Thursday, said multiple sources. The consignment was supposed to be delivered to a person in Hyderabad, and was being shipped via the courier centre.

Monocular, an equipment, helps in precision shooting even in darkness. "Customs officials wanted to verify if the kind of monoculars seized were the ones used in sniper rifles. They handed over samples of it to security agencies who confirmed the same to them," another source said.

Top customs officials went in person to the cargo unit and took possession of the material from the cargo centre. Monocular is restricted in the government's import list. The invoice attached for the consignment called it as "telescopic equipment", another source said.

It has been shipped by a freight flight. "It has not arrived through lesser-known cargo companies," the source added.

Due to the nature of the consignment seized and the reason for its import yet to be ascertained, officials are unwilling to share any details. A customs official said, "Probe is under way." Agencies are now in the process of verifying the credentials of the consignee. No one has claimed the consignment. This is the first time such a big consignment of an equipment was made, another source said.

SHAH HERALDS WHITE REVOLUTION WITH DAIRIES IN EVERY VILLAGE

AMUL, KMF to tie up to set up units; Co-ops to get finance easily

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mandya/Bengaluru

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah on Friday said that in three years, the government will set up 2lakh primary dairy units at the village level across the country. Inaugurating the Mega Milk Dairy of Mandya Milk Union (ManMul) at Gejjalagere in Mandya on Friday, Shah said Anand Milk Union Limited (AMUL) and Karnataka Milk Federation (KMF) will collaborate to establish dairies in every village in Karnataka.

"Karnataka has made huge progress in milk production and distribution. KMF, which distributed 66,000 litres of milk in 1975, is now distributing 82 lakh litres daily, and revenue has increased from Rs 4crore to Rs 25,000 crore. Just as a white revolution transformed the lives of dairy farmers in Gujarat, KMF and AMUL will make India a big exporter in the dairy sector," he said.

He said that 22,000 farmers from Mandya receive money from KMF. "The amount is directly credited to their bank accounts. Every month, dairy farmers from 16 districts are getting around Rs 28 crore," he said. Shah said the dairies will be set with the National Dairy Development Board. "The Centre is committed to extend the white revolution across the country. The cooperative ministry has prepared a three-year action plan, and assures KMF of all support to develop the units," he said.

Later, addressing the Cooperative Convention in Bengaluru, Shah said by creating a separate Ministry of Cooperatives, PM Narednra Modi has given new momentum and longevity to the cooperative movement in the country.

He said there is a plan to set up a Cooperative University, and work is on to create a national database of all cooperatives across the country, and a committee under the chairmanship of Suresh Prabhu has been set up to chalk out a cooperative policy. "We will expand the role of National Cooperative Development Corporation and National Bank for Agriculture and Rural Development so that cooperative societies get finance easily," he said.

Shah said that Ram Mandir in Ayodhya would be completed and opened for devotees on January 1, 2024. "While the BJP wanted to build the Ram Mandir, the Congress approached the court against the construction. But PM Modi laid the foundation stone for the construction of the temple. The BJP also developed Kedarnath, Kashi, Badrinath and other Hindu pilgrim centres in the country," he said.

CM Basavaraj Bommai announced an additional Rs 100 per tonne of sugarcane for farmers who supply sugarcane to factories which produce ethanol and molasses. "We will also start production of ethanol in MySugar factory to improve its revenue and make it a profitable unit. We will bring more industries to Mandya," he said.

BJP leader CT Ravi said that the 2023 Assembly polls will be "Tipu vs Wadiyar" and "Mulla vs Hanuman". "It was Nalwadi who gave water to Mandya and not Tipu Sultan. It was Nalwadi who built the dam, industries, educational institutions, and not Tipu," he claimed. Ravi said that the government will construct statues of Uri Gowda and Dodda Nanje Gowda, who, according to him killed Tipu in the battle in Mandya. "They are the real tigers of Mysuru, and not Tipu," he said.

SHAH SEEKS INPUTS ON OLD MYSURU

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah, whose focus is to win more seats in Old Mysuru in the 2023 assembly elections, held a closed door meeting with leaders of the region, including MPs, MLAs and MLCs, at a private hotel here on Friday evening. Shah sought inputs from ministers Dr K Sudhakar, V Somanna, MLAs, MLCs and the party's organisational leaders, to chalk out a strategy to increase the BJP's tally from the present 17 to over 30 in the region, which has 59 assembly seats.

"We said the ground reality is that Old Mysuru, traditionally a Congress/JDS stronghold, cannot be won overnight. He promised to return with a strategy. Engaging state and national leaders, and tackling constituencies held by rival parties was also discussed," a source told TNIE. Having won Sira in Tumakuru for the first time ever, thanks to a concerted effort by the party's leadership in 2020, the party is looking to tackle constituencies which have potential. The BJP leadership has realised that if the party can win more seats in this region, it will be in a comfortable position.

BJP state chief Nalinkumar Kateel, CM Bommai, Union Minister Prahlad Joshi, and others were also on the dais.

Quota announcement a poll gimmick: Siddu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Davanagere

Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah on Friday termed the State Government's decision to create separate reservation categories for Vokkaligas and Panchamasali-Lingayats an "election gimmick."

Addressing the media here, Siddaramaiah said, "As election is nearing, the BJP is trying to please the electorate and hence announced the reservation."

He said that no one knows the exact status of the reservation given to 2C and 2D categories by scrapping the 3A and 3B categories.

Siddaramaiah said that the government should also clarify about the new 2C and 2D categories and not keep the public and opposition parties in the dark. "If they have any concern, the government should get all the reservations ratified in the Parliament through a Constitutional Amendment," he said.

Siddaramaiah clarified that he has got no objection to giving reservation to Vokkaligas. On the Mahadayi project, Siddaramaiah said, "It was notified on February 27, 2020, and what stopped the government for 2 years and 10 months in getting the DPR prepared?" "As the election is nearing, the government is making announcements in a hurry without understanding the legal repercussions," he said. Mocking Union Home Minister Amit Shah, Siddaramiah said, "Shah campaigned in West Bengal, Himachal Pradesh and elsewhere and the BJP lost. Is he a magician to win Karnataka?"

'Double engine govt has failed Krishna basin people'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Vijayapura

Accusing the ruling BJP government in Karnataka and the Centre of betraying the people of North Karnataka, mainly the farmers of Krishna basin with regard to irrigation projects, Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah wondered why the double engine government has failed to get gazette notification issues of Upper Krishna Project stage –III which clears all the hurdles to use 130 tmcft of water allotted under the scheme.

Addressing a large gathering on account of Congress convention on Krishna Basin's irrigation project on Friday, he said despite the BJP ruling in state and at the Centre, the government has failed to meet the aspirations of the people of Krishna Basin. Stating that merely by filing an affidavit before the Supreme Court, the Centre can issue gazette notification on Krishna tribunal verdict.

"But the government has no interest in helping the people. The government is busy in corruption and minting money," he said. Questioning the BJP government as to why it has failed to allocate Rs 1.5 lakh crore which was promised by previous CM, BS Yediyurappa for irrigation projects, Siddaramaiah said that the BJP government has granted less than Rs 50 crore. "I am asking the BJP government where the money has gone which you had promised for irrigation projects," he thundered. He said that the Congress will allocate Rs 2 lakh crore in five years to complete all irrigation projects if it comes to power in 2023.

AICC general secretary Randeep Surjewala said that the Congress government has been meeting all the promises which had been made to the people.

He described the BJP government as a government which believes only in giving fake promises.

KPCC president DK Shivakumar said that the BJP has been pick-pocketing the people ever since it has come to power in the state and at the centre.

Action-packed year: BJP holds fort; Congress remains on the offensive

RAMU PATIL

JUST when Karnataka was recovering from the lethal blow delivered by the Covid-19 pandemic, it slipped into one controversy after another, almost all through the year.

Politically speaking, it was an action-packed year. The ruling BJP which seemed tottering after the leadership change in mid-2021 gained stability under Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai's leadership. The Opposition Congress was able to keep up its fighting spirit as well as the pressure on the government, while former PM HD Deve Gowda's party JDS looked determined to hold on to its position in state politics. A relatively new entrant on the block — Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) — was able to draw some noted personalities into its fold, keen to gain some foothold below the Vindhyas.

The Bommai government was seen battling crisis after crisis, even as it was pushing its development agenda, trying hard to burnish its report card and win the perception battle. In a significant move, it decided to hike the reservation for Scheduled Castes (SCs) and Scheduled Tribes (STs). The governmnent also considered the demands of the Vokkaliga and Panchamshali Lingayat communities for change in reservation matrix, though the details are yet to come out.

The hijab row, that started in the first week of the year after a government women's PU college in Udupi barred students from wearing hijabs inside classrooms, escalated into a major controversy. It lingered on for a long time leading to violent protests before the issue reached the High Court and then the Supreme Court.

This was followed by many emotive issues; impediments on minority community traders carrying on with their businesses near temples, regulations on the use of loudspeakers and the halal vs jhatka cut debate. Fringe groups were setting the agenda for public discourse. Many feared that it would go on till Assembly elections early next year. The government and the ruling party distanced themselves from those emotive issues and insisted that the authorities were just enforcing the regulations. However, it is still not clear if such issues will yet again come to the centre stage of public discourse as Karnataka enters election mode.

It was quite a challenging year for the BJP government. It faced a flurry of accusations, even forcing a senior minister to resign after a contractor made serious allegations before committing suicide. The government's image took a beating after the State Contractors Association's charge of "40% commission" and irregularities in the Police Sub-Inspectors recruitment that resulted in the arrest of a top-ranking IPS officer along with many other cops.

The government did take several corrective measures, but not before the Congress made most of those issues and launched a series of campaigns, including the controversial "PayCM" campaign.

The school textbooks row put the government in a tight spot as it led to protests by writers, scholars and seers over the removal of chapters on social reformers and religious figures.

Alleged voter data theft led to the Election Commission of India's intervention to reexamine the process, which is underway now. It led to a sustained political slugfest with BJP and Congress accusing each other of enlisting now controversial organisation Chilume for gathering voter details.

Several instances of moral policing yet again put the spotlight on coastal Karnataka which also witnessed the killing of a BJP youth leader, allegedly in retaliation to the killing of a person from a minority community, while a Bajrang Dal activist's murder led to violent protests in Shivamogga. On the recommendation of many state governments, including Karnataka, the Centre banned the Popular Front of India (PFI) and its affiliate organisations accused of indulging in unlawful activities.

The State also enacted several key legislations, including, a law to prevent religious conversions by unlawful means. The government was in an assertive position with a newly won majority in the Upper House.

Controversies aside, on a more positive note, the government managed to attract huge investment proposals of nearly Rs 10 lakh crore, far exceeding their expectations, at the Global Investors Meet in Bengaluru.

The government took all parties into confidence in putting up a united front on the border row with Maharashtra.

While the cabinet expansion remains elusive, the BJP managed to bring its Lingayat strongman BS Yediyurappa back into action by elevating him to the party's all-important parliamentary board.

The Congress got a shot in the arm with the massive response it got during Rahul Gandhi's Bharat Jodo Yatra in Karnataka and veteran leader Mallikarjuna Kharge's elevation as party chief.

The chief ministerial ambitions of its leaders continue to be a challenge.

As the year comes to end, all parties will now be looking to redouble their efforts ahead of the big battle in early 2023.

CM Basavaraj Bommai dismissed his Goa counterpart Pramod Sawant's opposition to the Kalasa Banduri project. "We can't expect anything more from him," he said, adding that the tribunal has already announced its decision, which was also notified by the Centre in 2018

Two kin among 5 held for killing TN ex-MP

SAHAYA NOVINSTON LOBO @Chennai

TAMBARAM city police arrested five persons, including two of his relatives, for allegedly smothering former MP Dr D Masthan to death near Chengalpattu district on December 22 over a financial dispute. They have been remanded in judicial custody.

Based on a complaint by Masthan's son Uraris Shanavas, the Guduvanchery police had initially filed a case of mysterious death. According to the first FIR, Masthan suffered chest pain while travelling to Tiruchi from Chennai and was rushed to a private hospital in Chengalpattu district, where he was declared dead. A post-mortem was later conducted.

Special police teams formed in the case nabbed Imran Batcha, son-in-law of Masthan's uncle, who was in the car with him on the day. "The autopsy report confirmed that Masthan had died of suffocation. Imran Batcha's statement was contradictory to the CCTV footage from the spot and call records. Batcha disclosed the truth during questioning," police said.

Police said Masthan had a monetary dispute with Batcha, who had borrowed Rs 15 lakh from Masthan over two years. "When Masthan demanded that he return the money as his son's wedding was approaching, Imran picked an argument with him," police said.

On December 22, Batcha picked up Masthan from Chennai on the pretext of meeting a financier. Batcha was accompanied by his cousin Thameem alias Sultan Ahmed and his friend Nazeer. While Batcha was driving, Nasheer and Sultan Ahmed were seated behind.

"After crossing the Paranur tollgate in Chengalpattu district, Batcha parked the car. Nazeer held Masthan's hands from behind as Sultan Ahmed smothered him," said A Amalraj, Tambaram City Police Commissioner.

Other two suspects in the case–Thoufeek and Lokeshwaran–were following Batcha in another car. After murdering Masthan, Nazeer and Sultan Ahmed switched cars and the four escaped. Batcha drove Masthan to a nearby private hospital where he was declared brought dead.

CPM backs Saji's return to Cabinet

KS SREEJITH @ T'Puram

ENDING speculation, the CPM is set to bring back Saji Cheriyan into the state cabinet, who was acquitted in the case over anti-Constitutional remark. The CPM state secretariat met on Friday and entrusted Kerala CM Pinarayi Vijayan to decide on the date of the swearing-in ceremony. When the topic of reinstating Saji came up in the meeting, everyone favoured it.

The High Court had dismissed a petition seeking to disqualify him as an MLA. On July 6, the Chengannur MLA had resigned from the Vijayan cabinet after his controversial remarks sparked an uproar, which came at a time when the party was organising a series of programmes against alleged anti-Constitutional activities by the central government.

His absence has been conspicuous during the Vizhinjam stir. A close confidant of Pinarayi, Saji's return to the cabinet was expected in December, but CPM state secretary MV Govindan decided not to take a decision in a hurry as it might trigger the wrath of opposition and public.

To avenge it, he hatched a plot with the gun dealers.

Shah in town, but BSY on vacation in Singapore

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THERE was one important absentee at Union Home Minister Amit Shah's function in Mandya -- former chief minister B S Yediyurappa, who incidentally hails from Bookanakere in Mandya. His absence has raised many eyebrows and led to talk if everything is fine between Yediyurappa and his successor Basavaraj Bommai.

The fact that Yediyurappa was not present at the airport on Thursday night to receive Shah, and later on Friday in Mandya, has led to speculation of differences between the two leaders. Party general secretary Ravi Kumar and party leader B Y Vijayendra informed that Yediyurappa was away in Singapore, and had spoken to Shah over phone about his pre-scheduled trip. He is due to return on January 5.

A picture of Yediyurappa watching Shah's rally in Mandya on his phone went viral on social media too. Around this time last year, Yediyurappa was holidaying in Dubai with his family when the BJP state executive committee meeting was under way.

But sources said the differences were obvious in Belagavi too. Yediyurappa, who is normally diligent about assembly sessions, was present for just five days. Sources say the number of MLAs and others visiting him at the KLE guesthouse, where he stayed, had come down. Barring Mines and Geology Minister Halappa Achar and a few others, there were few visitors.

BJP sought to play down any speculation, with spokesman Capt Ganesh Karnik saying, "For the BJP in Karnataka, B S Yediyurappa is our tallest leader. He commands maximum respect all over the state. Everyone will be looking to his leadership to steer the party to success in the next election."

Honnali MLA MP Renukacharya, known to be close to Yediyurappa, said he doesn't want to comment on this. Meanwhile, former RDPR minister K S Eshwarappa, who is aspiring to return to the cabinet, also skipped Shah's meeting.

POLL-PACKED 2023 WILL SET STAGE FOR 2024 GRAND FINALE

The country's political temperature will start rising next year and peak the year after with the Lok Sabha election. Nine states will have assembly elections in 2023. They will set the stage for the grand finale in 2024. The Bharatiya Janata Party has many aces up its sleeve, including the likely opening of the Ram temple in Ayodhya, the inauguration of the new Parliament building, and the high-octane G-20 summit, which will see the prime minister play host to top world leaders. The coverage of these grand events will leave little space for the opposition in the media.

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi has embarked on a direct contact programme through the Bharat Jodo Yatra. The people-centric and state-specific themes being raised by him have given the yatra unexpected traction. The Congress has much at stake next year. It is in power in three states—Rajasthan, Chhattisgarh and Himachal Pradesh. Two of them face elections next year. Polls are also due in Karnataka, Telangana, Madhya Pradesh, Nagaland, Tripura, Mizoram and Meghalaya. The Modi government may also decide to hold an election in Jammu and Kashmir to have an elected government in the troubled state before the arrival of world leaders for the G-20 summit.

While these grand events and world-beating GDP growth figures put the Modi government in the driver's seat, the opposition is bidding to cobble together a united front against him. Two trusted allies of the BJP—the Shiv Sena and the Janata Dal (United)—have broken away, leaving it vulnerable in two large states—Maharashtra and Bihar. Together they account for 88 Lok Sabha seats. The BJP had swept both in the 2019 elections but would find it difficult to repeat the performance without strong allies.

This makes it imperative for the party to look for new growth areas. It has, therefore, started focusing on Tamil Nadu, Telangana and Andhra Pradesh. It may put together an umbrella alliance led by the All India Anna Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam in Tamil Nadu, while a tie-up with old ally Telugu Desam Party of Chandrababu Naidu is not ruled out. The party has already pressed the throttle in Telangana, where the main opposition Congress has been faltering. The contours of opposition unity will likely emerge after Rahul Gandhi completes his yatra in February next year. By all indications, there will be no dearth of action in 2023.

PELE, THE NAME THAT BINDS US ALL

Pele. It's more than just a four-letter word. It's more than just a name. It's a symbol of hope and everything beautiful. A light at the end of a dark tunnel. It's a metaphor. You know about Pele before you know how to kick a ball or run around in your backyard. Even before you learn nursery rhymes. It's powerful yet mysterious. You know about Pele even before you figure out where Brazil is. No name has touched more lives than Pele's.

He transcends the human world, he permeates into the world of the poor, he moves around in the society of the rich, he is in the classrooms, he is in boardrooms, he is everywhere. Pele is so popular that his name—Edson Arantes do Nascimento—is tucked into the folds of quiz books. We have yet to determine its origin. There are various theories, but even Pele could not give a clear picture.

Pele's rise to greatness is not just on the football field and the game he played but what he represented. Born in a poor family in Três Corações, a small town in Minas Gerais, he was raised in poverty. A Black player who had magic in his feet. He became the youngest player to score in the World Cup at the age of 17 when he helped football-crazy Brazil win its first trophy. Until then, the nation was looking for a hero—someone to deliver the proverbial Holy Grail.

He went on to win two more in 1962 and 1970. He turned Santos into a brand with 25 titles in the sixties. He scored 1,283 goals in 1,363 matches, which remains a record. He gave meaning to football, turning it into 'jogo bonito' (a beautiful game). He even came out of retirement to popularise the game in the United States, where he played for New York Cosmos. His iconic words—love, love, love—still unify the fissured world. Capitalist or communist, dictatorship or democracy, one can never help falling in love with Pele. He gave belief to the world when there was none. He was toasted by classicists and romantics alike. In an ethnically and racially divided Brazil, Pele, also known as Black Pearl, brought everyone together irrespective of class, colour and creed. His name resonated across the world and remained untouched and unharmed until this day and perhaps never will. The eternal king of football lives on.

QUICK TAKE

PREVENT DRUG ADULTERATION

Children's deaths are reported from a second country in two months—The Gambia and now, Uzbekistan—after allegedly consuming India-made cough syrups. The culprits reportedly are contaminants diethylene glycol and ethylene glycol. Probes are underway in both cases. To recall, one of these contaminants in a cough syrup allegedly caused the death of over a dozen kids in Jammu three years ago. The police filed the charge sheet only recently. Such incidents dent India's image as the emerging pharma powerhouse. Drug regulation should improve, and culpable manufacturers must be exposed and punished lest public trust in the health system deteriorates.

The allegation of neglecting the fisherfolk who had been displaced and faced loss of livelihood will not stand a fact check. The project had not uprooted them

BALANCE SHEET OF THE VIZHINJAM PORT STRUGGLE

DR T M THOMAS ISAAC
Former finance minister of Kerala

SOURAV ROY

Many feared the Vizhinjam port struggle was the Nandigram moment for the Left in Kerala. The fishermen's struggle led by a section of the Catholic church attracted much public sympathy, particularly because it was against mighty corporate Adani. After all, fisherfolk were a social outlier from the mainstream of developmental progress in the state. Many pent-up grievances also might have contributed to the outburst.

From the start, the tactics of agitators were to provoke police action, if not police firing, which could then be used to scale the struggle to the rest of Kerala. The government refused to be provoked even after a violent mob attack on the police station. The violence seems to have boomeranged, and a truce was reached. The government, from the beginning, was willing to consider all demands other than halting the construction of the port. That is where the final line was drawn.

How is Vizhinjam port important for Kerala development? In fact, the first survey for the port was undertaken before Independence. There was a consensus among all political parties for the establishment of India's first transhipment port at Vizhinjam, given its geographical proximity to the international sea route and deep-water shoreline. After the failure of the earlier two tender exercises, the Congress government in 2015 signed the contract with Adani to construct and operate the port for a specified period.

The Left opposed the contract because the terms were one-sided, in favour of the Adani company. Despite the open criticism against the terms, the Congress government signed the agreement. The church-led organisations organised a stir to protest the delays in implementation. In the situation, at the time of the election, the Left took a public stand that it would not disrupt the agreement already signed and would implement the project in a time-bound manner if it came to power.

There were three factors that weighed in favour of the changed stand of the Left. First was that the cancellation of a duly signed agreement would result in endless litigation and serious delay in the project, which would prove mortal given the possibility of a new port in the adjacent Tamil Nadu district of Kanyakumari. Second, a major impediment to industrialisation in Kerala has been the virtual absence of any corporate investment in the state. In this context, the cancellation of a duly signed contract would affect the credibility of the efforts being made to improve the investment climate in the state.

Perhaps the most important factor was that giving up the port would have jeopardised the Capital Region Development Program, which was expected to attract an overall investment of around ₹60,000 crore.

Central to the program was the construction of a 70-km long ring road from the port, passing through the foothills and ending in the coastal highway under the SagarMala Programme. A string of knowledge cities, industrial parks, townships and logistics hubs would be linked to the new arterial road. The project would be a boon to the crisis-ridden rubber lands in the foothills.

The progress of construction fell behind schedule because of natural calamities, Covid and scarcity of construction materials. Nevertheless, the first phase was to be completed in the current new year. It was at this juncture that on August 18, the struggle was launched to halt the construction, a demand which could never be accepted after the state had invested nearly ₹6,000 crore. This aroused suspicion that there was more than what meets the eye behind the agitation.

The allegation of neglecting the fisherfolk who had been displaced and faced loss of livelihood will not stand a fact check. To begin with, the project had not displaced any fisherfolk families. Now it is very clear that the unfortunate families who were living in miserable conditions in the cement godown came to occupy the shed in the post-Covid period. There were many families in the vicinity who had lost their houses and land due to sea erosion. In the project area, 212 flats were built to rehabilitate such families in 2020. Double the number of additional flats would have been built had the church not disputed two puramboke properties identified for construction. Instead of ₹8 crore allotment for compensation, more than ₹95 crore was distributed for 2,660 fishermen for livelihood loss.

The Kerala government also launched a ₹5,000-crore special package for the coastal area in the budget of 2019–20. It included rehabilitation of all fisher families living within 50 meters of the seashore. Already 2,997 families have been rehabilitated. Nearly 7,000 families have been identified for new houses at ₹4 lakh per house. All the schools and hospitals in the coastal area have been included in the upgradation scheme. All the welfare payments to the fisherfolk have been doubled. Of course, much more needs to be done, but it should not detract us from what has been done.

A focal point of the agitation has been the adverse impact of port construction on the seashore north of the port. Though the official environmental impact assessment denies any such calamitous impact, the general experience so far in Kerala would confirm the fears of the fisherfolk. Therefore, effective coastal protection measures must be ensured. This has been held back because of differences in opinion regarding the appropriate protection method. Instead of the traditional sea wall alternatives of a string of small groins or offshore breakwaters is being experimented with an outlay of nearly ₹500 crore.

Not only the direct cost of investment but also the indirect cost of increased coastal erosion and adverse impact on fishing must be factored into the project's cost. The government has earnestly responded to such concerns.

On the other hand, both direct and indirect benefits also have to be considered. Such a cost-benefit analysis would work out in favour of the project, a fact the church itself had accepted before the project began. Why it has changed its stance when the project is more than halfway through is a hazardous guess.

TACKLING CLIMATE ACTION ROADBLOCKS IN 2023

R R RASHMI
Distinguished Fellow at The Energy and Resources Institute, New Delhi and former civil servant

The year 2023 brings a new set of challenges for India in climate change policy and actions. Last year, India updated its Nationally Determined Contributions (NDCs) under the Paris Agreement and also released a Long-Term Low Emission Development Strategy (LT-LEDS) in the context of a net zero emissions goal by 2070. Work on the road map for the transition of economic sectors included in the Strategy is to begin. But more urgent is resolving the issues in implementing the updated NDCs that will be achieved by 2030.

The background of the emerging challenge is the Global Stocktake (GST) that will take place this year (2023) at the climate conference in Dubai. GST is a process aimed at taking stock of progress on climate change commitments under the Paris Agreement, particularly in mitigation, adaptation, finance, technology, capacity building, etc. GST will determine the adequacy of current global efforts and the nature and scale of efforts needed for the next round of Nationally Determined Contributions.

Will India be adversely affected by this process? It may well be so if the Global Stocktake remains focused on the mitigation of emissions and ignores the questions of impacts of climate change, the adaptive capacity of countries, and the mobilisation of resources and technologies necessary for the transition. How should India build a narrative that helps her negotiate the Global Stocktake? Four steps could be taken.

First is by showing that her targets are not just ambitious but are backed by a coherent technology and financing plan for transition. The plan should remove the roadblocks to transition in terms of policy, finance and institutional structure.

For this to happen, the Centre and states need to look at energy transition from a common perspective and not in adversarial terms. Currently, there is a certain degree of distrust between the two. Even though the non-fossil fuel sources (including large hydro and nuclear) as a share of the total electricity capacity of the country have risen to 42%, integration of renewable energy into the grid is a question mark. Moreover, the rate of capacity creation needs to be doubled from less than 20 GW to over 40 GW per year to reach the 500 GW mark by 2030.

Estimated additional investments for this purpose are at least US $380 billion by 2030. Investments at this scale cannot materialise unless reforms in the current regime of energy pricing and distribution take place with the consent of the states. Centre-state coordination is key to avoiding the pile-up of stranded assets and attracting private capital in the long term.

The question of coal phase-down comes up in all conversations on the clean energy transition. States are bound to be affected by the phase-down if and when it happens. Planning for the coal phase-down also implies scaling up the already enhanced target announced under the updated NDCs and securing additional investments to create capacity.

K K Sundar

> The Centre and states need to look at energy transition from a common perspective and not in adversarial terms. Currently, there is a certain degree of distrust between the two

The G7 group of countries have offered public, private and multilateral finance to India through 'Just Energy Transition Partnership' to facilitate this process. The partnership can be gainful only if it looks at coal not in isolation but as part of the overall energy system and secures capital at costs that are superior to those available in the international markets. The pace and composition of sectors chosen for reform must also be consistent with the priority of states and the nation.

Second, states must be assured that their climate vulnerability is recognised and that the Centre is willing to help them in every possible way to build climate-resilient infrastructure and protect the economic sectors from loss of productivity. This needs funds for adaptation and economic transition at a scale grander than has been attempted so far through National Adaptation Fund and the Finance Commission grants. A platform for sustainable finance for states can be created where all stakeholders, including the Centre, states, multilateral financial institutions, corporates and philanthropies, get together to strengthen the hands of states. This will help states become equal and interested partners in the movement for Lifestyle for Environment (LiFE).

The third step involves framing a policy for the creation of demand and production facilities for alternative fuels. The government has reiterated in the LT-LEDS that it is keen to encourage investments in green hydrogen and biofuels. However, this entails a clear assessment of the demand from various sectors and investments within a timeframe.

The Indian civil aviation industry will be subjected to the 2020 emissions freeze line from 2026 under the ICAO regulations. The shipping industry may soon have to follow the IMO mandate. Green ammonia can help bring down the carbon footprint of the agriculture sector. Together, we need to assess the targeted scale of production of alternative fuels like ethanol, methanol and hydrogen by 2030 and devise the regulatory support or incentives needed to meet the demand from domestic sources.

Fourth, the markets can help moderate the transition cost by harnessing the scale and efficiency of technologies. The government has rightly initiated steps for creating an effective domestic carbon market. Indian players have a large and vibrant presence in the international voluntary carbon market. But they are daunted by the prospect of possible restrictions on their participation. It will help the market grow fast if the government segregates the economic sectors for domestic and non-domestic authorisation and dispels doubts about the availability of carbon credits for domestic and international use.

Managing the transition in all sectors affected by climate change is a complex process. Taking the proper steps early will make it easier. It will also help establish India's leadership by demonstrating that her NDCs represent more than her fair share of global responsibility and capacity.

Goodbye, legend

Apropos of Bye Bye Black Pearl (Dec 30). The whole world is mourning the demise of the Brazilian football icon Pele. He is the greatest football player of all time. He showed that victory is not accidental but a mixture of perseverance, steady zeal, learning, sacrifice and love towards the game. There is no substitute for Pele. With his passing, an era has ended.

Peerless football wizard

Apropos of Final touch to immortality (Dec 30). Pele was to football what Sir Donald Bradman was to cricket. His pivotal role in raising the standards of football in his native Brazil was phenomenal. Football greats like Maradona, Messi or Ronaldo can hardly hold a candle to Pele who was a class apart with his peerless dribbling skills and lethal kicks. His demise is one of the biggest losses to football.

C V Aravind, email

Saluting the Black Pearl

It's a bolt from the blue that the King of Soccer is no more. It was Pele who popularised football in the US. When the whole football world pays homage to the star, I, a fan of Pele from an Indian village, salute him.

Rajakumar Arulanandham, Palayamkottai

India and federalism

Faisal C K's column Indian Federalism as a Mad Hatter's tea party (Dec 30) seems lopsided, just to play to the galleries. Unbridled state autonomy is as disastrous as heavy concentration of power at the Centre. Devolving more powers to states may help the noble concept of federalism only on paper but would create more perplexities in the socio-economic fabric of the nation in practice.

Venkat Desikan, Chennai

Modi's duty

The demise of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's mother is quite saddening. Immediately after performing the last rites of his mother, the prime minister went on to attend to his duties. This shows his commitment to his official duties, undeterred by his personal grief. This is what distinguishes the ordinary from the extraordinary.

K R Jayaprakash Rao, Mysuru

Congress' fortunes dwindling

While Rahul's yatra is helping change the fortunes of the Congress, internal bickering amongst the party cadres is foiling these efforts. In Punjab, it gave away power on a platter to the lesser known AAP. The strategy adopted by the Congress to tackle intra-party issues doesn't seem to be working. They need to get their act together to retain power in Rajasthan and regain presence in Kerala.

SPORTING JOY

NEERAJ'S LONG THROW AT GLORY

The gentle and amiable Neeraj Chopra is the most decorated Indian athlete at the age of 24. After historic gold in javelin at the 2020 Tokyo Olympics, he did another first for the country -- he won the Zurich Diamond League final. His throw of 88.44m won him the trophy. India had previously reached the semifinals of the Thomas Cup in 1952, 1955 and 1979.

MIRABAI, VINESH AND BAJRANG

Injury is the common thread that binds them together. Olympic silver medalist Mirabai Chanu had quite a year. Despite wrist injury she kept coming back on the platform and won medals. ## PERSONALITIES

A LOOK AT PERSONALITIES WHO MADE A MARK FOR THEMSELVES AND IN THE PROCESS SHAPED THE POLITICAL DISCOURSE

SOME FOR THE ALBUM IN YEAR THAT WAS

POLITICAL TITAN OF THE YEAR

He came, he addressed the rallies, he conquered Gujarat. Once again, and this time with a record mandate. The huge crowds lining up for tens of kilometres to catch a glimpse of Prime Minister Narendra Modi had already given a teaser of the show that was to follow in his own state. The BJP's landslide victory, with the party taking 156 of 182 total seats in the state Assembly, also worked as an instant balm for the stings it suffered in Himachal Pradesh Assembly and Delhi Municipal Council elections. Modi and Gujarat had become synonymous after 2002. Two decades later, the connection seems to have only got stronger.

WALKER OF THE YEAR

A pan-India walk was bound to score talking points about the daily miles covered. Maybe, errr..., even the shoes being worn. But while those did sneak into talks, Rahul Gandhi's Bharat Jodo Yatra gave lots more vignettes to his fans and critics alike. His bushy salt-and-pepper beard tops the list, of course, in close contest with the white T-shirt he wore even in Delhi winter. Pics of him tying mom Sonia's shoelaces won hearts, as did his hugs to kids. Opponents called it a costly show of nothingness. The milling crowds, Congress said, was proof of their invaluable love. That will be known in '24. For now, what Rahul has proved is that he can give a lot of leaders a run for their popularity.

DEFECTOR OF THE YEAR

After months of will he, won't he, he finally did. Veteran Congress leader Ghulam Nabi Azad walked out of the party in August, and floated his own outfit, Democratic Azad Party, soon. With no love lost, a half-century old bond came to an end. The development came as a surprise to few people, as the septuagenarian leader had led the G-23 group of dissenters who had written to Sonia Gandhi in 2020, calling for an overhaul of the party. The former J&K CM and Rajya Sabha member carried the same tone and tenor in his resignation letter too, citing Rahul Gandhi's "immaturity" and blaming him for "demolishing the consultative mechanism" in the Congress.

REBELLION OF THE YEAR

As Rahul Gandhi embarked on his Bharat Jodo Yatra, it became a task for the Congress brass to keep the party's Rajasthan unit from breaking apart. Camp Ashok Gehlot wanted to see the chief minister at the helm of party's national affairs. As did Sachin Pilot's faction, actually, for that would vacate the CM's chair for him. Gehlot, however, wanted to hold the reins of the state as well. As rebellion brewed, central peacekeepers were flown in to calm the storm. Turned out, the mess led to nowhere and the party had to maintain the status quo. But not before the rebellion brought out in the open, once again, that all is not well in the Rajasthan Congress.

SONRISE OF THE YEAR

Reaping success in the two fields most maligned for being riddled with nepotism, actor-politician Udhayanidhi Stalin continues to climb up the ladder, and rapidly. Udhayanidhi was sworn in as the Youth Welfare and Sports Development Minister, in his father, Tamil Nadu Chief Minister MK Stalin's Cabinet earlier this month. No surprise there; the stage had already been set for him. After taking over as the minister, the first-time legislator, who was elected from Chepauk-Thiruvallikeni constituency in 2021, said he would thwart all the criticism through his honest performance. No surprise there too; the script is old.

STUNNER OF THE YEAR

It wasn't really reduced to ashes. Yet, the Congress' victory in Himachal Pradesh Assembly polls was celebrated somewhat like the rise of the phoenix. So what if the electorate of the hill state stuck to their riwaaj of not bringing back the incumbent government in power, the Congress tally of 40 out of the 68 Assembly seats as against the BJP's victory in 25 seats was a feat not many had imagined. Whether the BJP shot itself in the foot by refusing to restore the old pension scheme or failing to allay internal dissent, or it was the Gandhi siblings charm that worked in the Congress' favour, one thing is certain — few would have foreseen Sukhu as Himachal CM.

REPEAT MANDATE OF THE YEAR

Even before the 'bulldozer raj' began in Uttar Pradesh, Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath was seen as a monk who was demolishing traditional approaches on his way to his ends. Whether you like it or not, here was a saffron-clad leader who didn't believe in sugar-coating his views, showed little political pretence, or patience for bringing down crime (and criminals). And whether you like it or not, more people in the state voted for him for these very reasons. The repeat mandate earned by BJP in the UP polls earlier this year showed that clearly. All the talk of making the state an investment and tourism hub worked, of course, as cherry on the cake. Or raisin on the halwa.

FIGHTER OF THE YEAR

So what if he came back fighting, Arvind Kejriwal considers himself daring enough to venture right into the lion's den. The Delhi chief minister's Aam Aadmi Party won five seats in Prime Minister Narendra Modi's home ground, Gujarat — enough to get it the status of a national party. After forming the state governments in Delhi and Punjab, and getting a toehold in the BJP's bastion, AAP will now get renewed confidence to try and breach more political citadels in the country. The Delhi civic body polls have further proved that AAP is taking the business seriously, and Kejriwal is no one-performance-wonder. He has shown the spine for it. And the 'revadis'.

SURPRISE OF THE YEAR

The Angry-Young-Man-turned-Exuberant-Old-Man-on-KBC turned into a wise elderly man. Actor Amitabh Bachchan was until now much trolled for not using his huge presence on social media to take a stance about issues that matter. He did that finally. Speaking at the Kolkata International Film Festival, which was also attended by West Bengal Governor CV Ananda Bose and Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee, Bachchan talked about censorship in Indian cinema. He said, "Even now, I'm sure my colleagues on stage would agree, questions are being raised on civil liberties and freedom of expression." With that, he firmly locked his stature in the minds of his fans. The 'liberal' ones, at least.

ANGRY MAN OF THE YEAR

A poised diplomat turned into an angry old man who got angrier by the day. External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar chewed no words as he gave mouthfuls in interviews, talks and statements. The pro-government lobby clapped at his no-holds-barred retorts; opponents gaped at how tactless he sounded. Finally, India has a voice that does not seem timid, some said, finding achchhe din amid all the din. Others talked of empty vessels, the noise they make and how easily they get dents. Europe-centric view will no longer work, Jaishankar thundered. Help us get US visas faster, the chorus grew louder back home. We won't stop taking Russian oil, he harped some more. And then more.

STATE OF THE ECONOMY

GOVERNMENT SELLS 3.5% STAKE IN LIC

The government offloaded 3.5% stake in the country's largest life insurer – Life Insurance Corporation of India – through an IPO, raising Rs 20,557 crore. Though the amount raised was lower than expected (Rs 60,000-70,000 crore), it is the biggest public issue ever in terms of the amount raised. The retail portion was subscribed 1.9 times. The share was priced at Rs 949 and listed at Rs 867 on the bourses. The move was a leap for the government to bring the state-owned insurer under market scrutiny.

RBI LAUNCHES DIGITAL RUPEE

To reduce dependency on paper currency, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) this year launched the Central Bank Digital Currency, a sort of official cryptocurrency. This is touted as the biggest thing after the UPI (unified payment interface) in facilitating payments. The RBI defines the digital rupee as a form of digital token that represents legal tender. It is the same as a fiat currency and is exchangeable one-to-one with the fiat currency, unlike cryptocurrencies, where the value is highly volatile.

RUPEE BREACHING 83 MARK

The government that once garnered votes promising a strong rupee had to face embarrassment when the rupee breached the 83-mark and touched the lowest at 83.29 on October 19. The rupee has since recovered some ground even touching 80.6 in the first half of November. The Indian currency has been under pressure from a strengthening dollar and outflow of investment from foreign portfolio investors. The FPIs have so far taken out a net $18 billion in 2022.

TAXING THE CRYPTOS

After dilly-dallying on the legality of cryptocurrencies, the government did take a stand on the issue, when the finance minister in her Budget speech on February 1, 2022, imposed a tax of 30% on capital gains made on cryptos. It also levied 1% TDS on every transfer of crypto assets. The move to levy tax on cryptos came as relief to some investors as thy were expecting an outright ban. The RBI has been advocating outright ban of private cryptocurrencies terming them as a big financial risk.

TACKLING INFLATION

A hurriedly called MPC in May 2022 saw the RBI hiking repo rate by 40 basis points as retail Inflation in April (at 7.8%) came close to 8% forcing the central bank to change its response to it. Till then RBI said the nature of Indian inflation was different from that of the other developed economies. But with April retail inflation at an 8-year high, the RBI made course correction and followed it up with four more hikes during the year raising the repo rate by 225 basis points to 6.25%.

LAW OF THE LAND: 5 MAJOR VERDICTS BY TOP COURT

COLONIAL SEDITION LAW PUT ON HOLD

The Supreme Court suspended criminal trials and court proceedings under Section 124A of Indian Penal Code while allowing the Union of India to reconsider the law. It said it expected that state and Central governments would restrain from registering any FIR, continuing any probe or taking any coercive steps by invoking Section 124A while the reconsideration of the colonial provision was on. It granted liberty to parties to approach courts for reliefs in case any fresh case is registered under the law and requested the courts to consider their cases by considering SC's order and Centre's stand the provision needed "reexamination".

ABORTION RIGHTS GRANTED TO ALL WOMEN

The Supreme Court held that prohibiting unmarried or single pregnant women with pregnancies up to 24 weeks from accessing abortion while allowing married women to access them during the same period falls foul of the spirit of right to equality. Acknowledging the existence of abusive relationship within marital institutions, it also ruled that pregnancy of married women can be treated as "marital rape" for the purposes of abortion. It ruled to abort pregnancy on the grounds of martial rape, a woman need not seek recourse to legal proceedings to prove the fact of sexual assault, rape or incest.

2-FINGER TEST ON SEXUAL ASSAULT VICTIMS BANNED

Remarking that two-finger test revictimises and retraumatises women who may have been sexually assaulted, the Supreme Court asked the Central government to ensure that the practice is stopped. Expressing concerns with regards to the test still being conducted irrespective of the same being declared as violative of the right of rape survivors to privacy and dignity in 2013 by the top court, a bench of Justices DY Chandrachud and Hima Kohli said it is patriarchal and sexist to suggest a woman cannot be believed when she states that she was raped, merely for the reason that she is sexually active.

10% EWS QUOTA IN EDUCATION, JOBS UPHELD

The Supreme Court by 3:2 majority upheld the constitutionality of the 103rd Constitutional Amendment (impugned amendment) that granted 10% reservation to Economically Weaker Sections (EWS) in admission to public and private educational institutions and recruitment in Central government jobs. The impugned amendment which came into effect in 2019 had introduced Articles 15(6) and 16(6) that provided 10% reservation to persons belonging to EWS excluded Socially and Economically Backward Classes (SEBCs)/OBCs/SCs/STs from its ambit.

SPLIT VERDICT ON K'TAKA HIJAB BAN DELIVERED

The Supreme Court delivered a spilt verdict in the batch of pleas challenging the Karnataka High Court's ruling of upholding the prohibition of wearing hijab in educational institutions of the state. While upholding the ban of hijab, Justice Hemant Gupta in his judgment said that the practice of wearing hijab could be restricted by the state as per the government order. In a diverging opinion, Justice Sudhanshu Dhulia while quashing the government order said that it was against the constitutional value of fraternity and integrity. The stay on hijab ban will prevail till the SC forms a larger bench.

Manufacturing at company linked to Uzbek deaths halts

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

ALL manufacturing activities at Noida-based pharmaceutical company, Marion Biotech Ltd, which was linked to the death of 18 children in Uzbekistan, have been stopped.

The move came close on the heels of India's apex pharma export council, the Pharmaceuticals Export Promotion Council of India (Pharmexcil), suspending the firm's membership. The decision was taken on Friday after the company failed to reply to the council with a report on the adverse events.

Union Health Minister Dr Mansukh Mandaviya, in a tweet on Friday, said, "Following inspection by @CDSCO_INDIA_INF team given reports of contamination in cough syrup Dok1 Max, all manufacturing activities of Marion Biotech at NOIDA unit have been stopped yesterday night, while further investigation is ongoing."

A joint team of CDSCO and the Uttar Pradesh Drugs Controlling and Licensing Authority inspected the manufacturing unit in Noida and collected samples. The inspection at the Noida unit was completed last night, following which the decision to shut the unit was taken.

'Company fails to comply with stated regulations'

The move came close on the heels of India's apex pharma export council, the Pharmaceuticals Export Promotion Council of India (Pharmexcil), suspending the firm's membership. The decision was taken on Friday after the company failed to reply to the council with a report on the adverse events

Officials said they had found violations of Good Manufacturing Practices (GMP) and have collected samples of the cough syrup.

"We have collected samples and documents.. the test report is likely to be out by next week," the official said.

The Indian pharma company's cough syrup Dok 1 Max contained ethylene glycol, a toxic substance, the Uzbekistan Health Ministry said in a press statement.

"..ethylene glycol is toxic, and about 1-2 ml/kg of a 95% concentrated solution can cause serious changes in the patient's health, such as vomiting, fainting, convulsions, cardiovascular problems and acute kidney failure," the statement said.

Jai Shri Ram chants irk Didi at Vande Bharat flag-off

CM refuses to share stage with Railway Minister at Howrah station

PRANAB MONDAL @ Chennai

IRKED by Jai Shri Ram slogans at the virtual inauguration event of West Bengal's first Vande Bharat Express by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Friday, West Bengal chief minister Mamata Banerjee refused to share the stage at Howrah station. Union railway minister Ashwini Vaishnaw, who was present at the event, was seen trying to control the BJP supporters and requested them to refrain from shouting slogans. He pleaded Mamata and requested her to come on the dais which she refused.

Governor CV Ananda Bose was seen interacting with Mamata. The Bengal CM even refused to deliver speech. But, however, following repeated request from the governor, Mamata delivered a brief speech expressing her condolences over the death of Modi's mother.

A political slugfest erupted over the issue of the slogan. Firhad Hakim, a minister in Mamata's cabinet, said the BJP supporters deliberately shouted the slogan to irritate the chief minister. "Jai Shri Ram should be said in a temple or house with a pure mind. But the BJP supporters are using this slogan to irritate our chief minister. Had we wanted we could have stopped them immediately. But we believe in political courtesy," he said.

This is not the first time Mamata expressed her discontent over raising Jai Shri Ram slogan. In 2021, on the occasion of celebrating the birthday of Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose at Victoria Memorial in Kolkata, where Modi and other Union ministers were present, BJP supporters raised the slogan as soon as Mamata appeared on the stage. Expressing her displeasure, Mamata said the government programme should follow certain decorum. ''It is unexpected to insult any invited person at such an event. So, in protest, I refuse to say anything here. Jai Hind. Jai Bangla," she said in her brief address.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi attended flagged off the Vande Bharat Express from Howrah station virtually.

Addressing the occasion of the inauguration of Vande Bharat, Modi said more than 25 sewage projects have been approved in West Bengal out of which 11 are already completed.

'Absence of Covid info': WHO backs restrictions on travellers from China

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

THE World Health Organisation (WHO) Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus on Friday said that the curbs on travellers from China by various countries are "understandable" in the absence of comprehensive information from the ground.

His remarks came as several countries from the US to South Korea have placed restrictions on air travellers from China, which is seeing a massive Covid surge but has not revealed data.

India also has made it mandatory for international travellers from China and five other hotspots nations, Hong Kong, South Korea, Thailand, Japan and Singapore, to carry Covid negative test reports. Also, the Covid test needs to be done 72 hours before arrival to India. The rule will be applied from January 1.

India has already started conducting random testing of two per cent of international travellers from these countries.

In his tweet, the WHO chief said, "In the absence of comprehensive information from #China, it is understandable that countries around the world are acting in ways that they believe may protect their populations."

He said the WHO is "very concerned over the evolving situation in China."

"We continue encouraging China to track the #COVID19 virus and vaccinate the highest risk people. We continue to offer our support for clinical care and protecting its health system," Ghebreyesus added.

He also appealed for specific data on disease severity, hospital admissions and intensive care requirements.

MP POLLS

Congress may finalise 2023 candidates 6 months earlier

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

WHILE the next assembly elections in Madhya Pradesh are still at least 11 months away, the opposition Congress is contemplating finalising candidates, at least six months ahead of the polls on those seats, which it has failed to win since one to three decades.

According to key sources in the principal opposition party in the central Indian state, the party wants to give sufficient time to candidates for preparing on those seats, where the party has been extremely weak for a long time. "Three types of seats might see finalisation of candidates much in advance, preferably six months. Such seats, particularly those seats, where victory has eluded the party for a long time. Also, some seats where the party's present MLAs are facing high anti-incumbency may also see the same formula being adopted. But finalising candidates six months in advance doesn't mean making an official announcement about them," a senior leader said.

BJP sacks Bihar vice-prez a day after he opposed demand for hooch relief

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

A day after state vice-president of BJP Rajib Ranjan assailed the state leadership for demanding compensation to victims of Saran hooch tragedy, BJP initiated disciplinary action against him for anti-party activities and sacked him from the post. Singh, however, claimed that he resigned on his own.

Singh, a former MLA from Islampur in Nalanda district, was vocal about BJP's state leadership over the latter's protest against state government's reluctance to pay compensation to victims of Saran hooch tragedy. The BJP leaders had staged a sit-in protest in premises of state assembly to press for their demand.

BJP state chief Sanjay Jaiswal said that Rajib Ranjan has been suspended for six years for his anti-party activities. In a letter issued on Thursday, Jaiswal said, "Your utterances have been unbecoming of a state vice-president and also affected party's image. You are hereby relieved of your post and suspended for six years."

He also said that Ranjan's statement was against party line on prohibition issue. "You also ignored warnings given to you orally for such action. Considering it a serious lapses on your part, disciplinary action has been initiated against you," Jaiswal said, referring to the letter issued on December 29.

However, the BJP didn't make it public till Friday afternoon for the reason best known to them. The matter came to light when Ranjan issued a statement on Friday saying that he has resigned from vice president's post and membership of the party as well. He alleged that state leadership has deviated from PM Narendra Modi's ideology and vision 'Sabka Saath Sabka Vikas.'

BRO connects Arunachal's Strategic Maza area along LAC

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

AMIDST the prevailing tension along the Line of Actual Control (LAC) in Arunachal Pradesh the Border Roads Organisation (BRO) has connected another important area after Yangtse. The BRO personnel and Machinery worked round the clock through heavy rains, tough terrain and dangerous working conditions to achieve this feat on Wednesday.

"BRO's Project Arunank achieved connectivity to Maza, a strategic location along Northern Borders, on Road TCC-Maza in Arunachal Pradesh. BRO is immensely proud to serve the Nation," informed BRO.

Maza is located in Upper Subansiri district where the armies of India and China had fought a major battle in 1962. # Agatha Christie mystery shrouds Russians' deaths!

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

THE mysterious deaths of two Russians in Odisha recently and their subsequent cremations became the subject of a verbal duel between the Russian ambassador Denis Alipov and Congress MP Manish Tewari late on Thursday.

One of the deceased was Sausage tycoon Pavel Antov, who, according to reports, was against Russian military invasion of Ukraine. The police is investigating both th deaths.

Tewari expressed his surprise at why the two were cremated and not buried.

"Two Christians cremated not buried! Why? Hercule Poirot says burnt bodies tell no tales,'' Tewari said.

Poirot is a fictional Belgian detective created by British writer Agatha Christie.

In response to this, Russian ambassador Denis Alipov lashed out at Tewari.

"We appreciate the investigation efforts by the Indian authorities into the death of two Russian nationals in Odisha. Meanwhile, it would be useful for some Hercule Poirot lovers to learn that cremation in Russia is as customary as burial. Idleness is the root of all evil,'' ambassador Alipov said, quoting Tiwari's comment.

Interestingly, it didn't stop there and Tewari issued a rebuttal on Alipov's comment.

Quoting the Orthodox Chrisitian Information centre, Tewari tweeted: "The order of the burial which we have at present has been sanctified by ancient customs and is as such protected by the sacred canons... on the contrary, cremation of bodies is unacceptable from the church's point of view."

The two Russians who were cremated were 65 year old Sausage tycoon, Pavel Antov, who fell off the window of his hotel room, two days after his friend Vladimir Bidenov, 62, died due to what is viewed as excessive drinking. Antov was also a member of the Legislative Assembly of the Vladimir Oblast. His sausage company "Vladimir Standard" was in 2019 estimated by Forbes to be worth $140 million.

The billionaire is the latest wealthy Russian seen to have had differences with Russian President Valdimir Putin to have died since the start of the war in Ukraine and Tiwari's tweet referenced a news article pointing to that coincidence.

It is unusual for veteran diplomats to engage in public spats with officials — current or former — of their host countries, especially in nations that are seen as friends. India is among the few countries yet to formally condemn the war in Ukraine. The Russian embassy has maintiained all along that these two deaths were accidental and ruled out any foul play. Meanwhile, the Indian ministry of external affairs said on Thursday it would let the police carry out their investigations and did not want to "jump the gun" on possible causes for Antov's death.

As Dalai Lama prays at Bodh Gaya, Chinese 'spy' quizzed, to be deported

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

BUDDHIST spiritual leader the Dalai Lama on Friday said China was passing through a difficult time due to widespread Covid infection and expressed his sympathy for that country.

The Dalai Lama was in Bodh Gaya a day after a Chinese woman was detained by the police for interrogation after intelligence inputs suggested that she was spying on Dalai Lama. Her visa was subsequently cancelled.

Police sources said she would be deported to China after completing legal formalities.

Sounding an alert on Thursday, the police had put out sketches of the suspected Chinese 'spy' on social media requesting residents to provide information about her. The woman was later identified as Song Xiaolan.

Senior Superintendent of Police (SSP), Gaya, Harpreet Kaur, said the foreign national was picked up from a guest house at Maharani Road in Gaya and she turned out to be an ardent follower of Dalai Lama.

Bihar chief minister Nitish Kumar on Friday called on the Dalai Lama and sought his blessings.

Nitish told the Dalai Lama that elaborate security arrangements have been made for the safety of devotees and other visitors.

Speaking at a teaching session being organised at Bodh Gaya, the most revered shrine of Buddhists in Bihar's Gaya district, Dalai Lama said the Covid-19 pandemic was spreading fast and appealed to Buddhist monks to pray for its eradication.

The Buddhist leader said that Bodh Gaya was a pious land and advised devotees to practise Nagarjun's Bodhicitta.

He appealed to people across the globe to 'collectively' take a stand against weapons of mass destruction.

Recalling the massive destruction wrought by atom bombs during the Second World War in Japan, the Dalai Lama said that he had the opportunity to visit Hiroshima and see for himself the level of massive devastation there.

"After coming to India, I have been able to concentrate more on meditation," he added.

TRUMP'S TAX DODGE PAPERS FINALLY GO PUBLIC

Ex-prez mostly claimed enormous annual deficits and paid little in tax

WASHINGTON

US lawmakers released Donald Trump's tax returns on Friday, ending a yearslong battle by the former president to keep his finances private as he prepares for another run at the White House in 2024.

The Republican leader broke with tradition by refusing to release the records, triggering feverish speculation about what they might contain. The House Ways and Means Committee released a summary earlier in December of six years of filings, from 2015 to 2020, as part of investigations into the presidential audit programme.

The documents showed that Trump wasn't being regularly audited by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) and that, despite reporting millions in earnings, he paid little in tax by claiming large business losses.

"The 'Trump' tax returns once again show how proudly successful I have been and how I have been able to use depreciation and various other tax deductions as an incentive for creating thousands of jobs and magnificent structures and enterprises," Trump said in a written statement to CBS News. The returns themselves released on Friday were not expected to yield sensational new revelations, but Democrats hope they will add detail on Trump's businesses and particularly any foreign concerns that might present conflicts of interest.

The summary showed that the 76-year-old billionaire mostly claimed enormous annual deficits.

He paid $1.1 million in federal taxes in 2018 and 2019, the middle two years of his presidency, after making around $30 million selling assets. But that dwarfed his $750 bill in 2017—and he paid nothing at all as his losses mounted in 2020.

The report also showed that Trump had carried forward $105 million in net operating losses on his 2015 return, $73 million in 2016, $45 million in 2017 and $23 million in 2018 to reduce his tax liability.

A separate congressional report on the IRS's mandatory presidential audit programme showed it was not doing its job during most of Trump's time in office. "The IRS only opened one mandatory examination from 2017 to 2020 for returns filed while the former president was in office," the report reads. The IRS began to audit Trump on the very day that Ways and Means Democrats requested his tax information in 2019.

The House Ways and Means Committee voted on December 20 to release all of Trump's 2015-2020 returns, ending a four-year battle between Democrats and the former president that eventually reached the Supreme Court.

The New York Times alleged in 2020 that Trump had paid no income tax in 10 of the previous 15 years after reporting massive losses. AFP

Putin, Xi vow closer ties, step up military coop

KYIV

RUSSIAN President Vladimir Putin and Chinese leader Xi Jinping vowed on Friday to deepen their bilateral cooperation. Putin and Xi made no direct mention of Ukraine in their opening remarks by videoconference before going into private talks. But they hailed strengthening ties between Moscow and Beijing amid what they called 'geopolitical tensions' and a 'difficult international situation,' with Putin expressing his wish to extend military collaboration.

"In the face of increasing geopolitical tensions, the significance of the Russian-Chinese strategic partnership is growing as a stabilising factor," said Putin. The Russian leader said he expected Xi to visit Moscow in the spring. Such a trip "will demonstrate...the strength of the Russian-Chinese ties on key issues, will become the main political event of the year in bilateral relations," he said. Putin said military cooperation has a 'special place' in the relationship between their countries. He said the Kremlin aimed to "strengthen the cooperation between the armed forces of Russia and China."

Xi said that "in the face of a difficult and far from straightforward international situation," Beijing was ready "to increase strategic cooperation with Russia, provide each other with development opportunities, be global partners for the benefit of the peoples of our countries and in the interests of stability around the world." AP

Biden signs $1.7 trillion US govt spending bill

SAINT CROIX

UNITED States President Joe Biden on Thursday signed off on a $1.7 trillion spending bill that will keep the US government funded through the next fiscal year.

"It'll invest in medical research, safety, veteran health care, disaster recovery" and funding for programmes combating violence against women, Biden tweeted.

The funding bill includes a roughly 6% increase in spending for domestic initiatives, to $772.5 billion. Spending on defence programmes will increase by about 10%, to $858 billion. It includes $45 billion in emergency military and economic aid for Ukraine. The bill also includes about $40 billion in emergency spending, mostly to help communities across the US as they recover from drought, hurricanes and other natural disasters.

The bill also features add-ons, such as a reform tightening a 19th century law to make clear that vice presidents do not have power to overturn election results.

That is intended to prevent any repetition of Donald Trump's chaotic gambit to avoid conceding defeat to Biden in the 2020 presidential election—including by trying to coerce his vice president, Mike Pence, to halt certification of Biden's win.

The bill also provides roughly $15.3 billion for more than 7,200 projects that lawmakers sought for their home states and districts. Under the revamped rules for community project funding, the lawmakers must post their requests online and attest they have no financial interest in the projects. AP

Equity mkts sign off 2022 with 4.4% gains

Indian markets outperformed most other markets in 2022, as major global indices gave negative returns

ARSHAD KHAN @New Delhi

IN a year jam packed with uncertainties such as a pandemic that refuses to wane, Russia's war in Ukraine, soaring inflation, aggressive rate hikes to name a few, India's equity market showed resilience and managed to close the calendar year with a gain.

BSE Sensex, which fell 293.14 points, or 0.48%, on Friday (December 30) to end 2022 at 60,840.74, gained over 4.4% year-on-year this year after a double-digit growth in the previous three years. The broader NSE Nifty index declined 85.70 points, or 0.47%, to end at 18,105.30 on Friday. Still, the 50-share index marked a 4.3% gain for 2022.

If one has to describe the market in 2022 in one word that would be volatility. On 14 occasions, Sensex rallied over 1000 points intraday while it fell 1000 points similar number of times this year. On February 24, when Russia invaded Ukraine, Sensex crashed 2,702 points. While some analysts believe the gains in the Indian market are on the back of continued strong economic momentum, some believe the local market is richly valued.

"Indian markets outperformed most other markets in 2022 benefitting out of better management of macros including inflation management and corporate earnings that didn't disappoint despite challenging times. This meant India got a larger than proportionate share of FPI funds directed towards emerging markets. Rising trade deficit and pressure on rupee were viewed negatively," said Deepak Jasani, head of retail research, HDFC Securities. "In terms of global markets, Brazil, India, Indonesia and Singapore markets rose between 4% and 5% in 2022. Brazil and Indonesia benefitted as these are resource heavy economies (commodity prices are up through the year though lower than the intra year highs) and Brazil underwent transition of presidency. Nasdaq, China, Hongkong and German markets performed the worst even as the tech sector came under constant pressure, China witnessed slowdown in growth and recurrence of Covid and German markets suffered from energy crisis due to Russia Ukraine conflict," he added.

Japanese index Nikkei fell 11%, Dow Jones 9%, Hang Seng 16%, S&P 500 20% and NASDAQ composite - the worst performing index - plaunged 34% in 2022. Within the Indian market, share prices of PSU Banks gained more than others. The PSU Banks index saw a rally of 72%, followed by Nifty Bank up 22%, Metals and FMCG, up 23% and 19% respectively. The Auto and Energy pack grew by 15% and 14% upticks. Pharma and IT indexes, which saw massive rally last year, witnessed correction in 2022. Nifty IT fell about 26%, Realty and Pharma fell 11% wrack while Media was down 9%. Stock wise, Adani Group flagship Adani Enterprises was the top 2022 gainer with a rally of 125% YTD. FMCG major ITC, which was stagnated for years, gave a return of52% in 2022.

What's in store for cryptos in 2023 after massive fall in 2022?

UMA KANNAN @Bengaluru

THE world's largest cryptocurrency Bitcoin was trading above $47,000 on January 1, 2022, from its all-time high of over $68,000 in November 2021, and just when the crypto industry was expecting a bullrun in 2022, it came crashing and falling below $16,000 in November 2022.

After Sam Bankman-Fried's FTX crypto exchange's collapse, the future of crypto remains uncertain, but experts say the bear market will soon come to an end. "2022 wiped out a notional wealth of $2 trillion from the marketcap of crypto assets. Events like failure of Luna and collapse of exchanges including FTX, Celcius, Three Arrows, Vauld jolted the investors' confidence. This coupled with rising inflation, hawkish central bank and interest rate hikes dented sentiments for riskier assets including cryptos," said Dileep Seinberg, founder and CEO, MuffinPay, Crypto NeoBank. One of the highlights of this year was completion of The Merge, which is technical upgrade of Ethereum. The year also saw a major sell-off with the new crypto rule that includes 30% tax and 1% TDS on virtual digital assets.

After the Terra crash and FTX collapse, many crypto exchanges in India started releasing transparency reports to gain investors' confidence. In its third edition of transparency report in November, WazirX said over 700 accounts were blocked in April-September 2022 period and majority of the accounts blocked were due to requests that came in from users. The bear market of 2022 will spill over the early months of 2023, experts say. "There will be a rise in decentralised applications and the adoption of distributed ledger technology in public and private sectors," said Rajagopal Menon, vice-President at WazirX.

ASIANOMICS

THAILAND

Q3 HOUSEHOLD DEBT-TO-GDP SLOWS

Thailand's household debt to gross domestic product ratio dropped to 86.8% in the third quarter from 88.1% in the previous quarter, central bank data showed on Friday, as the economy continued to recover. The ratio was still among Asia's highest, however, and the amount of debt increased to 14.9 trillion baht ($431.51 billion) at the end of September from 14.76 trillion baht at the end of June. The high level of household debt could disrupt the economic recovery and needed to be brought down to sustainable levels, Bank of Thailand (BOT) Governor Sethaput Suthiwartnarueput said earlier this month. The high debt was one reason why the BOT has not increased interest rates aggressively while the economic recovery was slow and had yet to return to the pre-COVID 19 period, Sethaput told the BOT's magazine. The BOT has raised its key rate by a total 75 basis points since August to 1.25% to curb inflation and ensure the recovery continues. It will next review policy on Jan. 25, when most economists expect a further gradual rate hike. Growth in Southeast Asia's second-largest economy has lagged behind peers as its vital tourism sector has just started to rebound this year. The BOT forecast growth of 3.2% this year and 3.7% in 2023. Last year's growth of 1.5% was among the slowest in the region.

SOUTH KOREA

DEC INFLATION STEADY AT 5%

South Korea's consumer prices rose 5.0% in December from a year earlier, official data showed on Friday, matching the market's expectations and marking the same pace as in November. A breakdown of the data showed prices of agricultural products fell 1.6% over a year, whereas utility prices jumped 23.2% and private service prices rose 6.0%, keeping the overall annual inflation rate high despite its peaking in July this year. Both the central bank and the government have said inflation would ease only gradually and that there was huge uncertainty about the near-term inflation path. The Bank of Korea has raised its policy interest rate by 275 basis points since August last year and is widely expected to stop raising it after one more increase in early 2023. The core CPI, which excludes volatile food and energy prices, rose 4.1% over a year, after rising 4.3% in November, which was the fastest annual increase in nearly 14 years. It slowed for the first time since November 2021. For the whole of 2022, the CPI rose an average 5.1%, up sharply from a 2.5% gain in 2021 and the fastest since 1998.

CHINA

SHARE OF YUAN IN RUSSIAN WEALTH FUND DOUBLED TO 60%

Russia's finance ministry on Friday said the maximum possible share of Chinese yuan in its National Wealth Fund (NWF) had been doubled to 60% as it restructures its rainy-day fund to reduce dependency on currencies from so-called "unfriendly" nations. The ministry said the permitted share of gold in the NWF would also be doubled, to 40%. It said balances in the British pound and Japanese yen had been reduced to zero. Russia has been using its NWF, which stood at $186.5 billion as of December 1, to finance its widening budget deficit this year. "The Russian finance ministry is continuing its consistent reduction of the share of currencies of 'unfriendly' states in the structure of the National Wealth Fund's assets," the ministry said in a statement. Russia deems any country that has hit it with sanctions over its actions in Ukraine as "unfriendly" and has responded with countermeasures. After the West blocked Russia's central bank from dealing in U.S. dollars, euros and pounds, and froze around half - or $300 billion - of its international reserves, Moscow accelerated a campaign to shift its substantial reserves into more accessible currencies. Finance Minister Anton Siluanov said that trend will continue next year when Russia could resume transactions under its budget rule - a scheme where some profits on oil and gas sales are saved in foreign currencies.

Eicher to invest ₹440 cr in Stark Future

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

EICHER MOTORS, the parent company of Royal Enfield, announced its decision to invest 50 million euros (about ₹440 crore) in Spain-based Stark Future.

With this investment, Eicher holds about 10.35% equity stake in the company and plans strategic collaboration in the electric motorcycle space.

This will pave way for collaborative research and development in electric motorcycles, technology sharing, technical licensing, and manufacturing, the firm said in a statement on Friday.

Leisure motorcycles don't easily lend themselves to EV technology at this stage, said Eicher Motors managing director Siddhartha Lal. Lal pointed to the challenges such as the battery range, packaging, weight and cost and said this has resulted in stunted growth of this segment till now.

AGM UPDATES

Dish TV shareholders reject FY21, FY22 results

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE shareholders of Direct-to-Home operator Dish TV rejected the proposal for the adoption of audited standalone and consolidated financial statements for 2020-21 and 2021-22 in its Annual General Meeting (AGM) held on Thursday, with over 70% shareholders voting against the resolutions.

"Based on the above, Resolution Nos. 1 and 2 have failed to obtain the requisite number of votes in favour by the shareholders under remote e-voting and electronic voting at the Adjourned AGM and the number of votes against these Resolutions are more than those in favour," said the scruitinisers report shared by the company on the BSE.

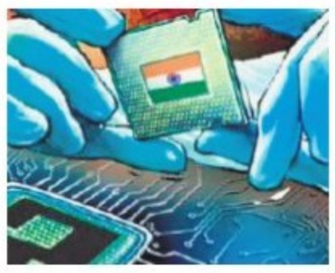
Dish TV's largest shareholder Yes Bank Ltd (YBL) and the promoter family led by its former chairman Jawahar Lal Goel were engaged in a legal battle over board representation in the company.

YBL, having over 24 percent share, was pushing for reconstitution of the Dish TV board and removal of Goel along with some other persons.

The shareholders had earlier rejected the proposal in the AGM on September 26 with 84.5 percent voting against it. The meeting was thus adjourned sine die. The company will announce the date of its Board Meeting soon. "The date of Board Meeting for declaration of the Unaudited Financial Results of the Company for the third Quarter (Q3) ended on December 31, 2022 will be intimated in due course," said the company in a statement.

Govt extends PLI scheme to new sectors in 2022

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi



DESPITE strong doubts over the efficacy of the Production Linked Incentives (PLI) scheme, the government expanded the scheme to newer sectors in order to give a boost to manufacturing in the country.

In June 2022, the government launched a Design-led PLI to build a strong ecosystem for 5G as part of the scheme for telecom & networking products. In September 2022, the government launched the PLI scheme (Tranche II) on 'National programme on High Efficiency Solar PV Modules', with an outlay of ₹19,500 crore. The purpose was to build an ecosystem for manufacturing of high efficiency solar PV modules in India, and reduce import dependence in the area of renewable energy. Under the mobile manufacturing & specified electronic components head, the government disbursed ₹53.28 crore to the eligible companies.

Nearly 650 applications have been approved under the PLI scheme till December 16, 2022, in sectors such as bulk drugs, medical devices, telecom, white goods and food processing under 13 schemes. So far, ₹. 47,000 crore of actual investment has been made and production or sales of ₹3.75 lakh crore of eligible products and employment generation of nearly 2.5 lakhs has been reported. "Around 106% achievement of actual investment reported versus the corresponding projections of FY 2021-22," said the government in a press note. In a bid to enhance India's manufacturing capabilities and exports, the government, in 2020, announced PLI schemes for 14 key sectors with an outlay of ₹1.97 lakh crore.

The government approved 30 firms for availing sales-based incentives under the scheme for millet-based products from large entities and MSMEs. For white goods (ACs and LED lights), so far 64 applicants with committed investment of ₹6,766 crore have been selected.

Govt's fiscal deficit increases 40% in April-November 2022

MONIKA YADAV @New Delhi

FISCAL deficit has increased 40% in the first 8 months of the current financial year. It stood at ₹9.78 lakh crore for April-November 2022 period compared to ₹6.95 lakh crore in the same period last year.

The fiscal deficit has reached nearly 59% of its full year budget estimates up to November this year, according to the data compiled by the Controller General of Accounts (CGA). Fiscal deficit is the difference between total expenditure and total receipts. The government has budgeted for a ₹16.6 lakh crore fiscal deficit in the current financial year.

It is to be noted that in the previous year, the fiscal deficit was 46.2% of the budget estimates of the 2021-22. The government has set the fiscal deficit target for the current financial year at 6.4% of the GDP. Last year, the fiscal deficit target worked out to be 6.7% of the GDP. The high deficit number can be attributed to lower non-tax revenues and high capital expenditure during the period. The net tax revenue of the government up to November was recorded at ₹12.24 lakh crore in April-November 2022 period compared with ₹11.35 lakh crore in the previous year. It is 63.3% of the budgeted estimates of ₹19.34 lakh crore for FY23.

Core sector output rises to 5.4% in Nov from 3.2% in same period last year

NEW DELHI: Eight core sectors grew 5.4% in November, quickening from 3.2% growth in the same month last financial year, the commerce ministry said in a statement on December 30. Eight core industries include coal, crude, oil, natural gas, refinery products, fertilizer, steel and cement. In the previous month, the growth rate was 0.9%. The eight core industries comprise 40.27% of the weight of items included in the Index of Industrial production. While coal, fertilizer, steel, cement and electricity segments showed a significant growth in November as against in October, petroleum refinery products declined by 9.3%, according to the data. Crude oil, natural gas and refinery products, however, recorded negative growth in November this year. The production growth of eight key sectors slowed down to 0.9% in October. Coal production rose 12.3% year-on-year in November, while electricity generation increased 12.1%. ENS

Pele doesn't die. Pele will never die. Pele is going to go on for ever. But Edson is a normal person who is going to die one day, and the people forget that. – Pele on football immortality and human mortality to The Guardian 2003

From politicians to influential people and millions of fans of course, Pele meant a great deal. He leaves behind moments that will be cherished forever

GRACE OF GOD

VISHNU PRASAD

TWICE in his career, politicians decided where Pele belonged.

The first instance was in 1961 when the Brazilian president Janio Quadros had Pele legally declared as a national treasure. It is a phrase that is now used fondly in almost all accounts of his life. But that nostalgia masks the politically-charged nature of that action, a move by a populist government used to try and win the favour of the public, at the expense of the great man's personal liberties. A 21-year-old Pele had started attracting the interest of European giants. Inter made a million-dollar offer to Santos for his services. Juventus chairman Gianni Agnelli offered Pele part-ownership of Fiat to move to Turin. Manchester United and Real Madrid signalled their interest. That was when Quadros actually passed a bill in Parliament that made it illegal for Pele to move abroad.

The second instance came just a few days before he kicked his last ball. In 1977, the United Nations, as if to exorcise the ghost of Quadros, gave Pele a certificate that declared him 'a citizen of the world'. Years later, Pele would look back rather fondly on that honour in his autobiography. "It sounds grandiloquent to say that becoming 'a citizen of the world helped focus my thoughts' — after all, everyone on the planet is a citizen of the world in their own right — but it was a humbling reminder that I had come to occupy a different place in people's attentions and affections."

These two instances may seem antithetical. But they are just different reflections of the answer to the same unanswerable question. What did Pele mean? One might as well ask how many stars are there in the sky. But break that question into a hundred different layers and it seems, at the very least, attemptable. And if Quadros' act was an attempt to tap into what Pele meant to Brazil, the UN honour was a reflection of what he meant to the world.

For Brazil, Pele was the author of their national identity. His exploits in 1958 showed an unequal society that anyone could be the best in the world. Here was a Black kid getting to the top in a society where half a century ago, slavery was legal. In the eponymous Netflix documentary, Pele talks about how Brazilians had a 'mongrel complex'. "Everyone was great except for us." With a wave of his magic boot, Pele banished that and showed his countrymen that they too could be the best in the world. American president Richard Nixon famously introduced Pele with "My name is Richard Nixon." Here was a president, at the height of American imperialism, one of the most vocal proponents of American exceptionalism, acknowledging that he was inferior to a Brazilian.

As for the world, is there anyone who does not know Pele? First with Santos, and then with New York Cosmos, he was on tour for months on end, a relentless missionary spreading the religions of football and love. When he landed in Nigeria in 1967, the country's government and the Biafra rebels paused a civil war to watch him play. The Pope keeps a Brazil jersey signed by him in the Vatican museum.

Most importantly, he gave the world modern football. Every bit of skill that we see on the pitch today, every swerve or feint, the Cruyff turn and the rabona, Pele picked them up from the streets of Brazil. Perhaps the best representation of what Pele meant to the world is an exchange between two commentators during the 1970 World Cup. "How do you spell Pele?" asked one of them. The other did not hesitate before replying. "G-O-D".

FUNERAL IN SANTOS

SAO PAULO: The stadium where Pele played some of the best matches of his career will also hold his funeral on Monday and Tuesday. Santo said in a statement the public will be able to pay their final respects at Vila Belmiro Stadium, outside Sao Paulo. Santos said the coffin carrying the three-time World Cup champion will leave Albert Einstein hospital in Sao Paulo early on Monday and will be placed in the centre circle of the field.

A LIFETIME TO REMEMBER

AS THE GREATEST FOOTBALLER OF ALL TIME, PELE, PASSED AWAY AT THE AGE 82 IN SAO PAULO ON THURSDAY, A LOOK AT SOME OF THE KEY MOMENTS OF A HISTORIC CAREER...

OCT 23, 1940

Pele was born Edson Arantes do Nascimento into a modest family in Minas Gerais to the north of Rio de Jaineiro. His father was a keen amateur footballer.

1943

The name Pele came about when the three-year-old was supporting a footballing friend of his father by the name of Bile. Unable to pronounce the name Pele came out instead and the name then stuck for the rest of his life.

SEP 7, 1956

Pele played his first match for Brazilian club Santos, where he would stay for 18 years.

JULY 7, 1957 : At just 16 years and 9 months, Pele turned out for Brazil in a Copa America match against Argentina at the Maracana stadium where he would score the first of his 77 goals in his international career.

JUN 29, 1958

Pele shoots to global fame, scoring twice in the World Cup final in a 5-2 win for Brazil over hosts Sweden. To this day he remains the youngest man to play in a final, and the youngest man to score in one.

1962: After four seasons of triumph with Santos he played at a second World Cup in Chile. Injury saw him watch much of the tournament from the bench while his compatriot Garrincha provided the fireworks in another title triumph.

NOV 19, 1969: Scores his 1000th goal converting a spot-kick for Santos against Vasco de Gama. The game was held up for 20 minutes as he ran a lap of honour around the stadium.

JUNE 21, 1970

Pele leads Brazil to his third World Cup and he remains the only player to have won three. His game and his goals were those of a man at the peak of his powers with his header in the 4-1 win over Italy in the final one of football's most iconic moments.

DEC 29 2022

Pele dies aged 82.

1999

He was honoured as the Athlete of the Century by the International Olympic Committee. A year later FIFA honoured him with the Footballer of the Century award.

1994-1998

Pele was appointed Minister of Sports for Brazil, a post that at that time had never been occupied by a black man.

OCT 1, 1977

In the final game of his career Pele played the first half for Cosmos and the second half for Santos at the Giants stadium in New York. The FIFA statistics say it all -- 1,363 games and 1,281 goals.

JUNE 10, 1975

The 34-year-old Pele joins New York Cosmos and helps launch the 'football' revolution in the United States.

JULY 18, 1971

Pele plays his final game for Brazil aged just 30 in a 2-2 draw with Yugoslavia at the Maracana stadium.

He will never be forgotten and his memory will live on forever in each of us football lovers. Rest in peace, King Pele.

— Portuguese star Cristiano Ronaldo

The king of football has left us but his legacy will never be forgotten. RIP KING.

- French forward Kylian Mbappe

Rest in peace, Pele.

— Argentine World Cup winner Lionel Messi

Football has lost the greatest player in its history. Pele called me his brother. That was an unimaginable honour for me. Football will always belong to you!.

— Former German star Franz Beckenbauer

I have so many memories of Pele, without doubt the best footballer I ever played against (with Bobby Moore being the best footballer I ever played alongside). For me Pele remains the greatest of all time and I was proud to be on the pitch with him. RIP Pele and thank you.

— England 1966 World Cup winner Geoff Hurst

Before Pele, '10' was just a number. I would say that before Pele, football was just a sport. He transformed football into an art, into entertainment.

— Brazilian footballer Neymar

Pele's Cosmos effect: Football's first global superstar

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

ZURICH, July 4, 1988. It was the day FIFA truly embraced what the World Cup could become in the future. A money-spinning beast, a commercial behemoth. It was the day when the world governing body decided to give US the hosting right for the 1994 World Cup. Brazil, with its rich history, was the logical choice. But FIFA decided to give it to the US, a country that saw soccer with suspicious eyes. Even if some change was afoot — newspapers were publishing reports, league matches used to take place on a regular basis and kids were enrolling in their 1000s — winning a bid to host the biggest standalone sporting event was something else.

The man partly responsible for this change was Pele. He endorsed the US bid over the one that Brazil had. "It is important for football to have the World Cup in the United States," he had said. "I love Brazil... In the United States, it would be good for the game because it would change the World Cup. We played in 1970 in Mexico, but football doesn't change a thing. If there is a World Cup in Brazil, it doesn't change anything. It is something new," he was quoted as saying by World Soccer, a magazine, in a piece on how the US won the bid.

After Pele (2nd L), Dutch superstar Johan Cruyff (c) also moved to the US to play | AP

Mind you, this was a US that still deeply didn't care about football. In a poll that was published ahead of the 1994 World Cup, only 31 % of Americans even knew that they were hosting it. If it was bad in 1994, one can only imagine the state of affairs in the early 1970s. It was so bad that people have had to play make believe goalposts (there have been accounts of officials holding a crossbar above their heads during games).

This was the backdrop to Pele signing on to play for the New York Cosmos in 1970s. The Cosmos was a freshly minted team in a freshly minted league (North American Soccer League). So, the only three-time world champion moving to the US to play football was seismic. His mere presence got instant recognition to the league. The rickety turnstiles didn't stop revolving. The Blizzard, a quarterly football publication, wrote the effect Pele had in a piece in 2012. "While the average attendance for the NASL in 1974 was 7,825 per game, huge crowds turned out to see Pele, including a then-record 35,620 for the Cosmos's game in Washington.

"Burgeoning crowds forced the Cosmos to move their games from the dilapidated Downing Stadium to baseball's Yankee Stadium and eventually to the 78,000-seat Giants Stadium. Meanwhile, the team was feted in nightclubs around New York and Pele even visited the White House. Before long, football fever swept the country."

Sure, Pele was well remunerated (reports suggested his three-year deal was worth around $4.7 mn) but it had the desired effect. Apart from getting kids interested and getting people invested in a new sport, other superstars decided to give the US a go. In the years after Pele moved there, all three of Johan Cruyff, Bobby Moore and Franz Beckenbauer played for US teams. While this was always going to be unsustainable as the growth wasn't holistic — NASL folded in the 1980s — Pele had played his role in converting a nation of atheists and agnostics.

"By the time the NASL folded in 1984, football had taken root. Youth leagues were commonplace in the United States," according to the same Blizzard piece. "By 1990, the number of children playing the sport had soared to 2 million. That year, the United States played in the World Cup for the first time in 40 years. The United States hosted the World Cup four years later — thanks in large part to Pele's decision to endorse the US bid ..."

Forget the goals, honours and records. His legacy will be secure in the knowledge that he left his imprint on millions of kids in many countries who began sleeping with a football because of his feats.

Assam, Saurashtra and Kerala secure victories

ENS @Chennai

AS the third round of Ranji Trophy matches came to an end on Friday, Assam, Saurashtra and Kerala registered outright wins against Hyderabad, Mumbai and Chhattisgarh, respectively, to bag six points each. While Andhra lost to Maharashtra in the Group B clash, Tamil Nadu came close to a win before settling for three points against Delhi as the play was stopped due to bad light.

Washington Sundar took four wickets to help the tourists dismiss Delhi for 262. TN required 139 in about 18 overs but the fading light in the capital meant only six overs were bowled in which they scored 54 runs, losing three wickets.

In Thumba, Jalaj Saxena starred for Kerala, picking up six wickets before they chased down 126 runs against Chhattisgarh. Hyderabad skipper Tanmay Agarwal's century went in vain as Riyan Parag closed the proceedings for Assam to secure an 18-run victory. While Andhra were bundled out for 108 against Maharashtra in the fourth innings with Pradeep Dadhe taking 6/20, Mumbai were dismissed for 231 by Saurashtra, thanks to Parth Bhut (4/56) and Yuvrajsinh Dodiya (4/86).

'Prayers with you': Wishes pour in for Pant

AGENCIES @New Delhi

WISHES and prayers poured in from all quarters for star India cricketer Rishabh Pant who had a narrow escape after meeting with a horrific accident on the Delhi-Dehradun highway on Friday morning. The 25-year-old sustained injuries on his head, back and feet after his car collided with a road divider while he was driving back home to Roorkee. He is said to be in "stable" condition.

Dr. Sushil Nagar, who treated Pant in emergency at Roorkee hospital, said the cricketer didn't suffer any fracture but there was a ligament injury on his knee which would require further investigations. "When he was brought to our hospital, he was fully conscious and I spoke to him. He wanted to surprise his mother and was going back home," Nagar said. "He had two lacerations (blunt trauma) on his head but I didn't put stitches." The reports of CT scan of his brain and spinal cord have returned "normal" as per BCCI officials who are in constant touch with Max Dehradun, where he was shifted later. According to reports, he underwent a plastic surgery to manage his injuries. Further tests will be conducted in the days to come to decide future course of action.

Sachin Tendulkar and his former teammates also joined him in posting their messages for the dashing keeper-batter. "Wishing you a very speedy recovery. My prayers are with you," tweeted Tendulkar. The Indian Cricket Board (BCCI) said they are ensuring best possible medical care for Pant to come out of this "traumatic phase".

Olympic champion javelin thrower Neeraj Chopra tweeted: "My thoughts and prayers are with Pant. Wishing you a speedy recovery and hope to see you back to doing what you do best." Wishes also came in from across the border with Pakistani speed guns Shaheen Shah Afridi and Hasan Ali wishing him well. Pant was supposed to report to National Cricket Academy in the first week of January for strength and conditioning before Australia series.

Armageddon to Blue Tick: The phrases that defined 2022

In a year of extraordinary upheaval, from the war in Ukraine to catastrophic natural disasters, let's look at some of the words and phrases that have defined 2022

2022 LOOKING BACK

ARMAGEDDON

With the war in Ukraine and increasingly strident threats from Russian President Vladimir Putin, the spectre of nuclear warfare is stalking the globe for the first time in decades

Experts warned of the most dangerous situation they can remember, with fears not limited to Russia: North Korean nuclear sabre-rattling has reached new heights, with the world bracing for a first nuclear test since 2017

Protesters have burned posters of supreme leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei, and women have appeared in public without headscarves, in scenes scarcely imaginable before the uprising

BLUE TICK

The tiny blue tick (it's actually white on a blue background), which certifies users on Twitter, became a symbol of the chaos engulfing the social media platform in the wake of its $44 billion takeover by Elon Musk

The mercurial Tesla boss announced that anyone wanting the coveted blue tick would have to stump up eight dollars, only to scrap the plan hours later—and then reintroduce a more complicated system several weeks afterwards

QUIET QUITTING

After a fractious summit, a deal was clinched on a fund for "loss and damage" to help vulnerable countries cope with the devastating impacts of climate change

COVID'S TRUE DEATH TOLL STILL ELUSIVE

The difference between the official and real figures could expand even further next year

HEALTH

PARIS: The true global death toll of Covid-19 remains difficult to nail down three years after the first case was detected, though experts agree there have been far more fatalities than officially reported.

The difference between the official and real figures could diverge even further next year, with modelling predicting more than a million deaths in post-zero-Covid China, which recently narrowed how it counts the fatalities. There have been more than 6.65 million officially reported Covid deaths since the virus was first identified in China in December 2019, according to the World Health Organization.

However countries count Covid deaths differently and methods have changed throughout the pandemic. Attributing deaths to Covid can be a very difficult exercise, said Antoine Flahault, director of the Institute of Global Health at the University of Geneva.

The death of a patient in a hospital in a developed country who had already been diagnosed with Covid could be straightforward but that is often not the case and doctors "usually do no have much information" to guide them, Flahault said.

Instead researchers have sought to compare the total number of deaths from all causes recorded since 2020 to what would have been expected if there had been no pandemic.

Using these figures, researchers from the WHO reported in the journal Nature earlier this month that there were 14.83 million excess deaths from Covid in 2020 and 2021, updating a figure first released in May.

That is nearly three times higher than the 5.4 million officially reported Covid deaths over those two years.

Research from the US-based Institute for Health Metrics and Evaluation estimated in March that the number was an even higher 18.2 million.

But Flahault said that even these figures could "perhaps still be an underestimate".

The toll has risen more slowly this year. A regularly updated tally from The Economist estimates that there have been 21 million excess deaths since the pandemic's start—3.1 times higher than the official number.

According to the WHO figures , India had by far the most excess deaths linked to Covid in 2020-2021 with 4.74 million, a figure the government has sharply disputed.

Russia came next with a little over one million.

Lacking Data

Many nations have little or no data in the first place. In Africa, monthly data on deaths was only available for six out of 47 countries.

Brazil's Lula chooses Amazon defender for environment minister

ENVIRONMENT

RIO DE JANEIRO: Brazil´s President-elect Luiz Inácio Lula da Silva announced on Thursday that Amazon activist Marina Silva will be the country's next minister of environment.

The announcement indicates the new administration will prioritise cracking down on illegal deforestation even if it means running afoul of powerful agribusiness interests.

Both attended the recent UN climate conference in Egypt, where Lula promised cheering crowds "zero deforestation" in the Amazon, the world's largest rainforest and a key to fighting climate change, by 2030.

"There will be no climate security if the Amazon isn't protected," he said.

Silva told the news network Globo TV shortly after the announcement that the name of the ministry she will lead will be changed to the Ministry of Environment and Climate Change. Many agribusiness players and associated lawmakers resent Silva.

That stems from her time as environment minister during most of Lula's prior presidency, from 2003 to 2010. Lula also named Sonia Guajajara, an Indigenous woman, as Brazil's first minister of Indigenous peoples, and Carlos Fávaro, a soybean producer, as agriculture minister.

Silva was born in the Amazon and worked as a rubber tapper as an adolescent. As environment minister she oversaw the creation of dozens of conservation areas and a sophisticated strategy against deforestation, with major operations against environmental criminals and new satellite surveillance.

But Lula and Silva fell out as he began catering to farmers during his second term and Silva resigned in 2008. Lula appears to have convinced her that he has changed tack.

TECH

Indiana has blocked the Chinese-owned social media app TikTok from state devices, its technology office said on Thursday. The Indiana Office of Technology "blocked TikTok from being used in our state system and on our state devices" as of Dec 7, office spokesman Graig Lubsen said. The Office of Technology "is constantly testing the state system and making sure that the integrity is intact," Lubsen said. The blockage came on the same day that Indiana's attorney general sued TikTok, claiming the video-sharing platform misleads its users, particularly children, about level of inappropriate content and security of consumer information.

Panther saved from Ukraine

Kiara, a six-month-old black panther born in war-torn Ukraine and victim of exotic animal trafficking, has found a new home at a wildlife refuge in France. The panther with striking green eyes and shining black fur "escaped a tragic path in life," veterinarian Jean-Christophe Gerard said. She was just a few weeks old when the "private individual" who illegally owned her fled under bombing and abandoned the panther cub, Gerard said. Soon after, the Wild Animal Rescue Center in Kyiv took custody of Kiara and contacted International Fund for Animal Welfare (IFAW) which helped her get out of Ukraine and into a zoo in western Poland.

US redefines 'urban' America

DEVELOPMENT

More than 1,100 cities, towns and villages in the US lost their status as urban areas on Thursday as the US Census Bureau released a new list of places considered urban based on revised criteria. Around 4.2 million residents living in 1,140 small cities, hamlets, towns and villages that lost their urban designation were bumped into the rural category. The new criteria raised the population threshold from 2,500 to 5,000 people and housing units were added to the definition. The change matters because rural and urban areas often qualify for different types of federal funding for transportation, housing, health care, education and agriculture. The federal government doesn't have a standard definition of urban or rural, but the Census Bureau's definition often provides a baseline. "The whole thing about urban and rural is all about money," said Mary Craigle, bureau chief for Montana's Research and Information Services.

Sweden's right govt takes EU presidency

POLITICS

STOCKHOLM: Sweden takes over the EU's rotating presidency from January 1 vowing to maintain unity on Ukraine and uphold free trade in the face of calls for a tougher response to US green subsidies.

But the main questions for Stockholm as it takes the reigns of the 27-nation bloc at this tumultuous time could be how new dynamics in its own domestic politics play out on the European stage.

After eight years of centre-left rule, the government of conservative Prime Minister Ulf Kristersson formed in October relies on an unprecedented alliance with the far-right Sweden Democrats for a majority in parliament.

While the nationalist party has dropped its earlier calls for Sweden to quit the EU, its hardline stance in key areas such as immigration looks set to cause friction at home and curb the room for manoeuvre.

Helene Fritzon, a European Parliament member for the opposition Social Democrats, said there were "lots of pretty words" from the Swedish government over its plans.

Alongside Russia's aggression and trade, Stockholm has outlined climate change and protecting EU "fundamental values" in the face of disputes with Hungary and Poland as priorities.

"But there is great concern when, in practice, it is the Sweden Democrats who have the whip hand," Fritzon said.

Others, however, are less worried about the potential for the far-right party to play spoilers during Stockholm's time in the European spotlight.

The deal hatched to form the government means the Sweden Democrats formally have to be informed of any decisions taken in regards to the EU.

"But generally EU matters are excluded from this agreement," Goran von Sydow, director of the Swedish Institute for European Policy Studies, said. For von Sydow a bigger worry is how the neophyte administration copes with the burden of helping navigate the EU through such choppy geopolitical waters. "The challenge would be the relatively inexperienced government," he said.

Data of 400 mn Twitter users up for sale

TECH

Twitter has become the victim of a data breach after a hacker called, "Ryushi" claimed to have details of more than 400 million accounts which includes those of prominent personalities. In order to hand over or delete the vast data they contain, the hacker has asked for a ransom of $200,000. Ireland's Data Protection Commission (DPC) has launched a probe and stated it, "will examine Twitter's compliance with data-protection law in relation to that security issue".

However, Twitter has not made any comments so far. According to BBC, the data is said to include phone numbers and emails, including those belonging to celebrities and politicians, but the purported size of the haul is not confirmed. Only a small "sample" has so far been made public. Hudson Rock, a cyber-crime intelligence company was the first to notice the sale of data.

The hacker said the data was stolen by taking advantage of a 'vulnerability' which lets computer programmes connect with Twitter.

TENSIONS HIGH, ENERGY LOW

Surging UK electricity bills spark tensions among tenants

INFLATION

LONDON: Britain's cost-of-living crisis has turned into a bitter winter in households trying to keep their energy bills down: Some lecture flatmates for keeping the lights on. Others move to better heated homes.

Common energy-saving measures also include not using heating during the day—and buying an electric blanket instead of switching on radiators. It can be complicated for people in shared accommodation, with relationships complicated by different lifestyles and salaries, which means they must compromise to lower their bills. "Everyone is conscious about not leaving lights on," said Joe, a 33-year-old schoolteacher who shares an east London home with five other people.

The housemates have together agreed to turn off heating in bedrooms. They still warm the living room, where two of them work from home, but they use an electric heater during the day rather than firing up the boiler. Arguments can flare up, particularly when housemates bring partners to stay over.

Notes are sometimes left as a reminder to turn the heating down. "We have had a few passive-aggressive messages: If you're not in the room, turn the lights off," added Joe.

A smart energy meter, used to monitor gas and electricity use | AFP

Other London flatmates opted to avoid all heating unless the temperature dips to a really cold level, as it did over Christmas. Household electricity and gas bills have rocketed across Europe this year, after key energy producer Russia invaded Ukraine. In Britain, the average domestic energy bill has roughly doubled over the last 12 months. That has helped push inflation to the highest level in four decades, in turn creating a cost-of-living crisis.

Simon Francis, campaigner at pressure group End Fuel Poverty, said that the fuel crisis was hitting everyone. "People are all just suffering from this cost-of-living crisis—so no matter really how much you're earning, you are going to be suffering," he said "...clearly that is ...going to lead to tensions between housemates."

As Brazil mourns the loss of ace footballer Pelé, city-based sportspersons remember Pelé and his 'beautiful game'

Football's Supernova

IN MEMORY

Brazilian footballing star, Neymar Jr, who equalled Pelé's record-high tally of 77 international goals for the country, took to Insta to give his regards."Before Pelé, 10 was just a number. I would say before Pelé football was just a sport. Pelé has changed it all. He turned football into art, into entertainment. He gave voice to the poor, to the blacks and especially: he gave visibility to Brazil. Soccer and Brazil have raised their status thanks to the King! He's gone but his magic remains (sic)," he wrote in a post.

Pelé's generation set the tone for his national team and in fact, we used to practice Brazilian drills in our training sessions as well

Chitra Gangadharan, football coach

TUNIR BISWAS

WITH Latin America still high in the aftermath of the World Cup returning to their continent after 20 years, South America's footballing icon Pelé breathed his last on Thursday. While bereaved Brazil is coping with the loss, sportspeople in Bengaluru also mourn the loss of the 'King of Football'.

"Pelé has always been known for his great skills, quick movement and agility with the football. His generation set the tone for his national team and in fact, we used to practice Brazilian drills in our training sessions as well. What can I say about Pelé that hasn't already been said? His presence was immense," shares Chitra Kamal Gangadharan, head coach at Bangalore United Football Club.

"When I was growing up, we never had a television. But one of my teachers was a big football fan. He used to tell us that Pelé played the game upside-down. His head used to be near the ground and his feet were in the air. We used to wonder how that was possible. Eventually, we discovered YouTube and there we saw his old highlights of him scoring goals with the bicycle kick or the scissor kick and that's when I understood what my teacher meant. He has been a great role model for the youth," says Deepak Kalia, business manager of Stadium Sports Foundation.

According to Roopesh Ciruvilla, head of soccer schools at Stadium FC, Pelé changed football for everyone. "Brazil has produced wonderful talent in their history from Ronaldo, Ronaldinho, and Kaká to now Neymar, but Pelé is where it all started. He made himself known all over the world without social media. Even in Maradona's era, you can argue that TV was there. But Pelé had nothing and yet, all of us know and revere him," he says.

While his impact on football has been nothing short of legendary, Pelé is one of the few who transcended his sport to be an icon for all sports in general. "He has influenced me as an athlete even though we play different sports. When I used to play, I always drew his sense of simplicity and his finesse. He gave me glimpses of how to organise the game and one's self while producing the results we were after. Very few athletes can do that, it takes a deep understanding of themselves, their environment and the sport," concludes Arjun Gautham, mental coach for tennis professionals.

The year 2022 saw India being in the spotlight in terms of luxury international fashion brands, with a lot of over-the-top bespoke wear for men

MONIKA MONALISA

AFTER sitting in pajamas all through 2021 thanks to the raging pandemic, 2022 turned out to be quite the opposite. Let's just say it was a fashionable year with bespoke, luxury brands making their mark in the Bengaluru scene.

With many traditional designs like the bandhgala jacket with Indian embroidery coming back in a revamped manner, designs for men took a strong hold. According to ace fashion designer Manoviraj Khosla, there was a mix of Indian and western influences. "Whether beadwork or threadwork, embellishments or sequences, everything was reinvented. Jackets became more flamboyant, tuxedos were reinvented in different ways, embellishments, embroidery, loud prints and fabrics were out there. In 2022, men started dressing and being out there as far as fashion is concerned," says Khosla.

On the luxury brand side, Louis Vuitton (LV) got quite a bit of attention after actor Deepika Padukone became their first Indian global ambassador. Rinimaa Borah, founder of the clothing brand Miss Momo, says it was a strategic move since the brand is trying to reach out to more people. "These luxury brands are priced at a certain range to make it exclusive. But now, they are trying to bring the price down. For example, LV's multi-pochette was made of canvas instead of leather to make it more affordable to the crowd. It was quite a hit," say Borah.

The whole idea of luxury brands – Gucci for instance – putting out a Deepavali collection shows that in 2022, India got much attention from international luxury fashion brands. "For the Dior Couture Autumn-Winter 2022-2023 collection at the Musée Rodin in Paris, the French house collaborated with the Mumbai-based Chanakya atelier to create age-old embroidery techniques," says Borah.

Pink turned out to be the colour of the year in the fashion world after Valentino presented an all-pink collection at its fall 2022 Paris Fashion Week presentation. International stars like Anne Hathaway, Zendaya, Vanessa Hudgens and Jenna Ortega were spotted in pieces from the Valentino line. Here, celebrities like Aishwarya Rai Bachchan were sporting it too, during her Cannes Film Festival appearance. To add to the craze of pink, LV also recently launched their pump collection with the one in hot pink being the most popular one.

HERITAGE IN FABRIC

"The most important development in the fashion world was the issue of sustainability being taken seriously. Both manufacturers and consumers now understand the importance of sustainability at every stage of the process. The death of Issey Miyake in August and Vivienne Westwood this week leave a void that is impossible to fill. Both of them impacted the world of fashion and influenced it in many ways. The emergence of Reliance & the Aditya Birla Group as Unicorns to invest in fashion labels of India like Abraham & Thakore & Tarun Tehiliani bodes well for these designer superbrands! Indian models made a splash abroad in every fashion capital of the world."

THE jingle-jangle of Christmas has finally worn down to give way to the 'mother of all hooplas'. New Year's Eve! The city administration is waiting to issue (unfollowable) guidelines and only the very young seem to be mega excited about the madness and mayhem to follow. But then again, I speak like the jaded 'partied-out' person who doesn't think it's fun to have various substances spilled on one's expensive shoes and clothes by other revelers. Many people have left the city and I do hope that they don't come back with the latest strain of Cardi-V!

I know that I'm sounding like a 'Debbie-Downer' but it's not my fault. According to a recent article I've read, the body follows set neural pathways. The pathways that are negative get etched into our system faster than the positive ones. So after a certain time, the neurotransmitters start firing involuntarily down the negative-pathways and one has 'negative-Nancy' on one's hands! Well, if it sounds like a whole hoard of balderdash to you, don't blame me. This is what my 'neuro-transmitted' brain understood!

I have spent Christmas week exactly the way it was meant to be spent. Family parties, babies' gurgles and squeaks and all those things that make your heart jump. My son threw his (famous) Christmas party where, as usual, he cooked the whole elaborate meal himself. This party has metamorphosed into something beautiful right before my eyes! My children's friends now come with their significant better halves and babies! Kids, who grew up and went to school and college together, and pursued their different life goals all come together every year and now celebrate with their kids! My munchkin was squealing with delight to interact with my daughter's bff's baby and the air was so poignant, festive and happy. My neuro-transmitters were firing in the right direction for sure!

Taking my rapidly firing neurons on this journey of love, we landed up at Phirooza Rustomji's restaurant aptly called Fia's Lounge. Fia, has always been a cook par-excellence. All of us were prodding her for years to open up her own restaurant, which she ultimately did. She invited a bunch of us, to her tastefully done up venue for a Christmas brunch. The whole of Bengaluru was there and it was great meeting up with friends I hadn't seen in ages. There were (hold your breath) over 63 various dishes, ranging from the delicious turkey, fromages and charcuterie boards. The dessert table was unbelievably long and packed with every Christmas sweet that one could think of! Fia was in her elements with her two daughters Saher and Zenea playing the perfect 'Santa's little-helpers'.

Good friends Vinod and Triveni Hayagriv of C. Krishniah Chetty called a very niche crowd to unveil a book by Dr Manohar Babu entitled 'Gold in the World,' a comprehensive research into the location, importance in history of gold, and its impact on world economy. This discussion was insightful and very interesting, and with the generous hosts also inviting us to a sit-down wine lunch, the afternoon was a clincher.

I'm going to into a new year with a sane thought. 'One has only so much emotional energy each day. Don't lose it on battles that don't matter.' Happy New Year Folks!

CONVINCINGLY STITCHED WITH LOFTY AMBITIONS

A SHARADHAA

MADE in Bengaluru talks about aspirations and setbacks that are integral to any ambition. It also sends across the message of the visionary poet Willian Blake, "No bird soars too high if he soars with his own wing." Anything that has been conceived can be achieved if the support system is encouraging.

Suhas (Madhusudan Govind), an engineer from a middle-class family dreams of setting up a start-up and is inspired by Steve Jobs and Bill Gates. Although everything begins rosy, reality hits him hard soon and he is discouraged by a handful of investors.

Finally, Suhas ends up borrowing ₹ 25 lakhs from a gangster, Mohan Reddy (Sai Kumar), on the condition to pay back double in a year. Suhas and his friends begin the Veggies Pro app, an interface between farmers and customers.

Suhas soon falls for a new recruit Nidhi (Himanshi Varma), who happens to be his junior in college. But his dreams come crashing down when Nidhi turns out to be the thorn in his life. Fraught with unfinished aspirations, unfulfilled promises, and life in limbo, the rest of the story is about how Suhas handles his situation with his friends. Director Pradeep Sastry explores a less explored topic of young techies turning into businessmen through the film, which is equally a social drama revolving around the lovable main character.

MADE IN BENGALURU
Director: Pradeep Sastry
Cast: Madhusudan Govind, Anant Nag, Sai Kumar, Prakash Belawadi, Shankar Murthy, Puneeth Manja, Vamshidhar, and Himanshi Varma

With slices of comedy, friendship, family, business and romance, interlaced with twists at regular intervals, the clear narrative keeps us invested throughout. Albeit the slow pacing and logical loopholes, Made in Bengaluru is an intriguing take on the complicated relationships between Suhas and his friends as the explore their careers.

Performance by veterans like Anant Nag, Sai Kumar, Prakash Belawadi, and a whole bunch of young talents including Shankar Murthy, Puneeth Manja, Vamshidhar, and Himanshi Varma elevate the story. Vineeth Beep Kumar's role brings comic relief. Irrespective of the screen time, Bhatta (Shankar Murthy) is a clear winner in terms of his role.

Madhusudan Govind as the lead is impressive in his debut and nails his character as an ambitious, helpless romantic. There are many layers in his role. He is smart but diffident and tough at times.

With the title Made in Bengaluru, the film plays a credible tribute to the garden city and IT capital while showcasing the importance of culture and language. The film is also a musical with some incredible songs by Ashwin P Kumar. Each song is placed well and blends with the story.

Despite the film being about start-ups and business relations, this social drama caters to all types of viewers. So, it won't be a surprise if the viewers head to restaurants to savour idlis, as the rice cake becomes an inspiration and innovation of this whole story.

Mid-90s & college: An ideal cinematic watch

A SHARADHAA

HARIPRASAD Jayanna's Padavi Poorva is nostalgia unedited. It takes the audience to 1995-96 and presents a contrast to the technology-dictated present life.

The film holds a certain charm, especially because it is majorly relatable to a sizeable audience. Padavi Poorva, meaning pre-graduation is set in and around a college. Pipi Naveena (Pruthvi Shamanur), who has just entered PUC, is the blue-eyed boy of the college, for whom friends are a priority. Enter Nithya (Anjali Anish) for whom Naveena develops a special feeling. While Naveena has his dream for the future as his father wants to see him as a doctor, destiny has other plans. A situation arises when Naveena's relationship with his friends puts him to the test, even to the extent of sacrificing himself for the sake of rekindling a broken friendship.

Debutant director Hariprasad, an erstwhile associate of Yogaraj Bhat cleverly traces the ups and downs of a PUC student and his friends. He seems to have taken cues from the ace director for his first film. The film, which introduces new talents, is all about the love and friendship of college students, and its impact on their near and dear ones. The film happens at a time when life was not driven by mobile phones or technology. The aura of those days makes the narrative even more elegant.

Hariprasad beautifully highlights the significance of simple aspects in life, by packaging his film with drama, action, and loads of fun. The banters between the teacher and students are a riot. The climax twist by the director, who has penned the story, is a surprise indeed and it will be open to multiple interpretations.

While the screenplay needed to be tighter, the sequences that work and the witty dialogues make the glitch ignorable. Just 19, actor Pruthvi Shamanur in his first outing has handled his character smartly, proving that he has a great future in cinema. Anjali Anish has a charming presence and justifies her role, and so are other actors like Yasha Shivakumar, Rajneesh,Mandara, and Vijay Kiran. The actor, who has played the role of Viji (Vijesh) in the group of friends, is also a great find and is very promising. Sharath Lohitashwa, Rangayana Raghu, and Nataraj of Rama Rama Re fame appear briefly but deliver their bit. At the end of the film, many familiar artists appear in cameo roles and make the film more special.

Santhosh Rai Pataje's photography makes Padavi Poorva a colourful spectacle, even in dull moments, while Arjun Janya draws attention with his fresh music that gels well along with the college drama.

Padavi Poorva gives you a revisit to college life of the mid-nineties and revives the nostalgic moments. If you are in love or the kind who celebrates friendship, you have an extra reason to watch this film, which has light hearted humour delivered by young talents.
